Industry to Fight For Higher Rates

NEW YORK (AP)—The insurance industry is going to court to seek higher automobile liability rates in New York State.

This will be the industry's response to a rejection by Leffert Holz, superintendent of insurance, of its application for a 30-million-dollar year rate rise.

The underwriters and Holz agree that the insurance companies lost 21½ million dollars on property damage and bodily injury coverage last year. But, in turning down their proposal for increased rates on Nov. 12, Holz said a single year's loss was not justification for a steep rate raise. The companies asked for an increase of 9.5 per cent for private car owners and 5.9 per cent for commercial vehicles.

The 260 companies licensed to do business in the state are not in trouble, Holz said, and have adequate reserves to meet claims.

William Leslie and Frank Fleming, general manager of the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the Mutual Insurance Rating Bureau, respectively, said yesterday they would ask a prompt court review of Holz' decision, as provided in insurance law. The two underwriting groups are the major liability underwriters in the state.

Mary Lou LeFever Still Missing Firemen, Scouts Join In Widespread Search

A widespread search continued today for a 13-year-old High Falls girl missing since last Tuesday.

The girl, Mary Lou LeFever, apparently left the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Le-Fever, through a window of her bedroom some time Tuesday night. Her disappearance was reported to area police on Wednesday.

The pretty teen-ager is a student at the Marbletown Elementary School.

Comb Woodland
The wooded area in the vicinity of the LeFever home was searched Saturday by contingents from the Ulster county sheriff's office, Kingston state police, volunteer fire companies, Boy Scouts and civilians.

The search continued throughout Saturday without avail. Floodlights from one of the fire departments were employed to search a large cave in the area.

A contingent of six men headed by Sheriff Claude Bell, another six from the Kingston state police, some 50 volunteers from the High Falls, Stone Ridge and Cottekill fire companies, as well as Scouts and civilians went through the area with a fine tooth comb.

Direct Volunteers
Chief Raymond Williams of the High Falls Fire Company, Chief David Arnold of the Stone Ridge Company, were in charge of their volunteer details.

Bell said today that hunters in the High Falls area had been advised of the girl's disappearance and asked to be on the lookout for her.

Classmates of the girl and other children have been questioned by the sheriff's men, as have neighbors in the vicinity of the child's home. Buildings in the area have also been searched.

The state police detail was under the direction of Sgt. R. L. Keating.

Alarm in 13 States
A 13-state alarm has been issued reporting the girl missing. Merton Blanchard, supervising principal of the Rondout Valley Central School, of which the Marbletown Elementary School is an affiliate, describes the girl as "quiet and very attractive."

She is described as five feet five inches tall, weighing 120 pounds, with light brown hair in long curls. Her eyes are blue. She was wearing an off-white sweatshirt, blue dungarees and white saddle shoes.

Sheriff Bell said today that the search was continuing. Details were also in the High Falls area on Sunday.

It is reported that the girl apparently removed a storm window of her bedroom and descended by climbing down some trestles supporting outside fuel tanks.

Says Rough Policy Was Condoned

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—An Alabama Marine sergeant charged with cruelty towards Navy prisoners admitted today he beat two sailors and a fellow Leatherneck "to run a better brig."

Sgt. Tommy G. Flint, 23, of Silas, Ala., former warden in the brig at Sasebo naval base in southern Japan, said roughing up the prisoners was regular policy and the brig officer was aware of it.

The accused Marine, one of 16 being court-martialed for alleged mistreatment of prisoners, said brig officer Capt. Milton C. Kramer told him "I know what's going on down here. If it is going on don't let me know about it."

No Charges Filed
No charges have been filed against Kramer who supervised the Marine-run jail. Officials declined to make public Kramer's home town.

Seaman Carlos E. Vota, 18, of Amarillo, Texas, told the five-man special court-martial board "Flint hit me in the stomach. . . he said I was a kid and he'd make a man out of me."

Vota testified Flint forced him to stand in a crouch, holding a ruler on the backs of his hands at arms length. "I started to pray," he said.

He said he was cursed by Sgt. Robert J. Barbuti, 23, of Schenectady, N. Y., who also faces general court-martial, and told "This isn't a church, this is Flint's brig."

A second seaman, John A. Reed, 19, Cleveland, Ohio, also told of being struck by Flint.

Marine Pvt. John J. Taylor, 19, Phoenix, Ariz., said Flint slugged him in the stomach and forced him into a tortuous squat position.

Says He Got Sick
"I was shaking, I got sick after a while," Taylor said.

Seaman witness Donald Cherry, 21, Chicago, Ill. told of watching Taylor being beaten by Flint, slumping over and being propped against a bunk for further punishment. Taylor himself didn't mention the incident.

Margaret's Trip on Town Creating Stir in Palace

LONDON (AP)—A London newspaper says displays of independence by Princess Margaret are causing a stir in Buckingham Palace.

The newspaper said the princess shocked Queen Elizabeth II by going out on town last Wednesday instead of staying at the palace to celebrate the 10th wedding anniversary of the queen and Prince Philip. Other close relatives attended the palace party.

Margaret was invited but changed her mind at the last minute, the Express said. Instead the queen's vivacious 27-year-old sister went to the theater with friends and then dined at the fashionable Savoy Hotel.

She showed up at the palace just before the party ended.

The Express gave this account: "Her midnight arrival at the anniversary party came as a particular shock to the royal family when they found that, in addition to going to the theater, she had gone on to a public restaurant for this."

Margaret failed to attend the royal showing of "Les Girls" two weeks ago with the queen and Prince Philip, despite the fact that she reportedly had no other engagement. She saw the movie last Thursday with her own friends.

High-spirited and gay, the princess often has been the center of attention at dances and parties. Interest in her has grown since she bowed to family and church and publicly rejected the love of Group Capt. Peter Townsend, a divorced World War II hero, two years ago.

In recent months her name has been linked in British newspapers with several young British nobles who have escorted her to gay social events.

The tabloid Daily Sketch said three months ago that she would marry socialite Billy Wallace within six months. But a source close to both Margaret and Wallace discounted the story.

To Check Barbara Records SLA Wants to See Beer Firm Data

BINGHAMTON (AP)—Joseph Barbara Jr. is to appear before a state liquor authority investigator tomorrow to answer questions and produce the records of his father's beer-distribution business.

The authority subpoenaed Barbara Jr. as part of its investigation into the mobster meeting at the home of his father, Joseph Sr., in Apalachin, Nov. 14.

Son in Charge
The 21-year-old son has been managing the business during his father's illness. The elder Barbara, who suffered a heart attack earlier this year, has been confined to his home, on physician's orders, since the gangland conference was disrupted by state police.

The SLA investigation, however, is only one of a flock that has been hatched by discovery of the meeting.

Check on Deportation
The 60 men listed as having attended — many of them known gangsters—are being checked individually as possible subjects for deportation. State police said today, if any meeting participants escaped on foot when the gathering was broken up, "It was not more than five."

Sgt. Edgar Crosswell, who led the police unit to the meeting place, said names of all persons known to state police as having been at the meeting had been made public.

Calls for Files
Joseph M. Swing, U. S. Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, has directed the Buffalo office to collect and analyze files on the men, it was announced Saturday.

Deportation action may be brought against any of the guests who is an alien or naturalized citizen, district director William J. King said.

"If we find that any of these men gained citizenship in an illegal manner or through fraud, we'll take action," King said.

Two Questioned
In New York City last night, police questioned two more of the conferees. They were Salvatore Tornabene, 61, and Armand Rava, 46. Both gave themselves up and (Continued on Page 13, Col. 4)

Tries to Calm French Anger
PARIS (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain arrived today to try to calm French anger over U. S.-British arms shipments to Tunisia, an issue menacing NATO unity.

Macmillan plunged into his task the moment he stepped off the plane from London, declaring in a statement he was determined to see that France and Britain stay on friendly terms.

"We are in the same boat—don't let us or anyone else try to rock it," Macmillan said.

Macmillan was greeted at Orly Airport by Premier Felix Gaillard, who is openly angry over what he calls a lack of western support for France's policies in North Africa.

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Forty Englishmen sat down to their first all-American breakfast today.

They found the coffee "superb" the pork sausage, "— bit hot for the tongue," the paper plates, "filmy," and the apple juice, "smashing."

The over-all verdict was that American breakfasts were just a bit too much for light-eating Englishmen.

The meal, even down to the paper cups, was flown all the way from Kalamazoo, to Manchester. One diner called the feat "the most amazing thing of the lot."

The breakfast introduced Kalamazoo, Mich.—pronounced "Mee-chi-gen" in the English midlands and marked the opening of a U. S. government exhibition showing how American small city dwellers get along.

Operators of Hotel Innocent: Counsel

NEW YORK (AP)—Counsel for Mrs. Celia Hoffman and Mrs. Anna Schandler, sisters and operators of the Hotel Zeiger, Fallsburg, N. Y., charged with aiding banker William R. Rose in the misapplication of bank funds, told a federal court jury today that the two women were innocent of any wrongdoing.

Rose, 51, former president of the now defunct Ellenville Home National Bank, had pleaded guilty prior to the trial of the two women co-defendants. All were charged in a 13-count indictment charging him with conspiracy and with aiding and abetting the two sisters to misapply and misuse funds of the Home National Bank in the sum of more than $300,000 in bank loans and overdrafts for the benefit of Mrs. Hoffman and Mrs. Schandler from August 1955 through Nov. 30, 1956.

During a 1½-hour summation, defense counsel Gilbert Rosenthal charged that the government had employed during the course of the week-long trial a "poisonous technique," and "diversionary tactics."

Personal Basis
Rosenthal argued that the government had offered documentary evidence as proof of the alleged guilt of the women in a conspiracy with Rose "which actually showed that the transactions between Mrs. Schandler and Mrs. Hoffman were on a purely personal basis and not transactions between the two women and the Home National Bank."

Rosenthal also recalled the testimony of Mrs. Schandler and Mrs. Hoffman that they had begun their hotel operations at the ages of 7 and 10 when they helped their parents in the performance of chores necessary to the operation of a boarding house.

Relied on Rose
He said that they never had taken time out to study the intricacies of banking methods or mortgages and "relied entirely upon Rose in these matters."

Rosenthal argued that Rose could have put a halt to any bank overdrafts or the honorings of third party notes issued on the bank by the two women by merely refusing to approve payment.

"Even Rose didn't have the audacity," Rosenthal concluded, "to tell the defendants, that it was wrong, that it was a crime and a misapplication of bank funds to honor checks where there were not sufficient funds, or that it was wrong for him to honor notes given to third parties where there were not sufficient funds."

Predicts Deficit
The Democratic governor predicted the state will end its fiscal year next April 1 with a deficit, and probably will incur a deficit in the year after.

Opposing any increase in state taxes, he said the state will cut "desirable but not essential projects" in view of the financial prospects.

Harriman said "the state's income has not increased this year as much as had been estimated, although the figure will run more than last year." He also said that "there has been a substantial slowing down of business activity in the state."

Orders Economy
The governor said that to meet the budgetary problem he has ordered all state department heads to "exercise strict economy" in the preparation of their budget requests for next year.

Kingston Still Must Conserve

Kerhonkson, Highland Water Supply Improves

The water emergency which plagued southern parts of Ulster County during the summer and early fall is effectively at an end, but Kingston is still on strict water conservation.

This was what The Freeman learned today in a roundup concerning area supply conditions.

10.75 Feet Below Mark
That the city still must conserve on the use of water was stressed by Edmund T. Cloonan, superintendent of the Kingston Water Department, who said the Cooper Lake reservoir was 10.75 feet below spillway level.

Cloonan said consumption for the 24-hour period ending Sunday midnight was 3,510,000 gallons.

This was the picture around Kerhonkson and Highland areas: Three thousand feet of 8-inch Civil Defense pipe has been taken up at Kerhonkson and shipped back to Windgate in Dutchess County. The pumps have also been returned to CD stockpiles.

Two Reservoirs Full
Kerhonkson's two storage reservoirs are full. Natural flow is maintaining the level at capacity.

Supervisor Donald Sprague said a special meeting of the town of Wawarsing Board would probably be called this week at which time the emergency would be declared at an end.

Lake Maratanza on top of the Shawangunk range is reportedly up six or seven inches. This is the source of supply for the village of Ellenville.

Water from the lake flows by pipe into North Gully Creek flowing along the creek to a point where it is pumped out for filtering and storage for village use.

80 Per Cent Study Science In Saugerties High School
Approximately 80 per cent of Saugerties High School students are enrolled in science courses and about 64 per cent in the mathematics curriculum, Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent, noted today.

His report was issued in the light of continued discussion on high school science programs throughout the country following the Russian launching of two satellites.

Dr. Morse praised the caliber of science and mathematics instruction in the Saugerties school system "as demonstrated by the success of graduates in state examinations and in college science courses they have pursued."

Enrollment in Saugerties High School, he reported, is 766 for grades seven through 12. Of this total, 605 are studying science, "or approximately 80 per cent."

Of the 505 pupils enrolled in grades nine through 12, 323 are studying mathematics. "This is approximately 64 per cent," Dr. Morse said, "and all pupils in grades seven and eight study mathematics regularly."

He listed the following enrollment of students by grades who are studying science:

Seventh grade, 135, all study science; eighth grade, 126, all study science; ninth grade, 185, all study general science; 10th grade, 137, 104 of whom study biology; 11th grade, 111, 29 of whom study physics; 12th grade, 72, 26 of whom study chemistry.

The science department, he said, is headed by Robert Emery, who teaches general science and biology; Roy Ohno, physics and chemistry; David Jones, general science and health; James Toolan, eighth grade science and Donald Muller, seventh grade science.

Mr. Emery holds a master's degree in science and education from the Graduate School of Syracuse University. Dr. Morse said, and has taught science for approximately 11 years.

Mr. Ohno holds the BS degree in science from the University of Vermont and has completed 33 hours of graduate work at that university. (Thirty-two hours are normally required for the master's degree.) He has had practical experience as an analytical chemist for the General Electric Company; and practical experience as an employee of IBM. He has taught science for approximately 11 years.

U.S. Lags Way Back In Program

Expert Is Called To Senate Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Edward Teller said today that if both countries maintain their present pace of missile development "there is no doubt that Russia will leave us behind—and way behind."

And already, he said, he believes the Soviets have "or will have in a short time" the ability to hit major industrial centers in this country with an intercontinental ballistic missile. Specifically he said he believed the Russians could hit such a distant target as Houston, Tex.

Expert in Field
Teller, an expert on nuclear weapons, was the opening witness in a broad Senate inquiry into the U. S. missile program.

Among the major points of his testimony:

1. Russia has been able to make such tremendous advances because of willingness to take risks, to gamble in untried fields where there was not certainty the money spent would bring concrete results.

2. In 1945 the United States could have decided to proceed with missile development at top speed; but at that time there was extreme doubt that an effective long range missile could be developed.

Came Too Late
It was "years later," Teller said, before the value of such a missile could be demonstrated. He said when this became clear "quite a bit of energy" was put into the program. Since then, "the work has been excellently managed but it came too late."

3. He does not believe the Russians have caught up with the United States in nuclear weapons, but in bombers, radar and other developments the Russians "apparently know as much as we do."

More Money Needed
4. In his opinion, there are "many places" where additional money could bring speedier results in U. S. programs, and this country should be more generous in defense spending.

5. The U. S. program for the development of missiles and other scientific needs can be accelerated by closer co-operation among the armed services, among companies working on the missile programs and companies which could be brought into the program, and by co-operation and sharing of secrets not only with Great Britain but with other NATO countries and with other allies.

Danger in Sharing
Teller said there was some "danger" in sharing secrets with other countries, but said that in view of Russian advances and scientific knowledge this was not a danger such as might be the case in a field in which the United States has a monopoly.

"We must accept the danger," he said. "The danger of not co-operating would be greater."

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, chairman of the preparedness subcommittee conducting the hearings, said in his opening statement that the United States has "lost an important battle of technology" to the Soviets.

But, he declared, the "lost battle" represented by Russia's launching of two satellites is "not a defeat—it is a challenge."

The large hearing room in the Senate office building was only partly filled as Teller began his (Continued on Page 11, Col. 3)

Jordan Demand May Break Up Border Mediation
JERUSALEM (AP)—A Jordanian demand for the removal of a U. S. officer serving as U. N. truce observer today threatened a breakdown in the mediation of disputes along the Jordan-Israeli border.

As new frontier clashes were reported, Jordan announced that it no longer would accept the truce recommendations of U. S. Marine Col. Byron Leary.

But a U. N. spokesman said Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld immediately told the American government that Leary "continues to enjoy his full personal confidence."

Jordan's demand for Leary's removal apparently was prompted by the officer's mediation efforts in an Israeli convoy incident last week which touched off a series of border clashes.

Democrats Push For Legislation to Fix Constitution

ALBANY (AP)—The state's Democratic administration is pushing a campaign to amend the constitution so that the people can revise it by direct petition.

Joseph Zaretzki of Manhattan, the Senate minority leader, announced Saturday he would introduce such an administration bill Jan. 8 when the Legislature convenes.

Zaretzki has sponsored the bill before.

Zaretzki said the Republican leaders of the GOP-controlled legislature have the "final say" on what proposed amendments go before the voters.

This, he declared, "is not the democratic process... dreamed of by any builder of our democratic government."

New Yorkers, in the Nov. 5 election, turned down a proposal that a constitutional convention be held in 1959.

Gov. Harriman and the Democratic administration fought for the convention plan. They hoped the convention would lead to re-apportionment of legislative seats and a Democratic gain. The Republican Party took no stand but top GOP leaders upstate opposed it.

Under the constitution, the electorate is asked every 20 years whether a constitutional convention should be held. Now, amendments to the constitution must be approved by two separately elected legislatures and then by the voters.

Zaretzki said that, because the convention question would not come up again until 1977, "giving the people the right of initiative will help tie us over the 20 years."

Here is how the Zaretzki plan would work:

A proposed amendment could be submitted to the Legislature on petition signed by 100,000 registered voters. Not more than one-third could be from the same county nor more than half from a single city. At least 250 signatures must be from each of three-fourths of the state's counties. That would be 47 of the 62 counties.

In the event the legislature turned down the petition, it may go directly on the ballot if backed by 200,000 voters. Of these, not more than a third may be from any single county nor more than half from any single city. At least 400 signatures must be from each of three-fourths of the counties—47.

This works out to no less than 132 trips around the earth and it would appear that his nearest competitors in this department are the Russian Sputniks.

Select Judges For TB School Press Projects

The Ulster County TB & Health Association announces the judges selected for the annual school press project. They are Curtis P. Bight, MD of Kingston, staff member of both Kingston and Benedictine Hospitals, and member of the Medical Advisory Board of the Ulster County Heart Chapter; Thomas McKinney of Highland, editor of Hudson Valley Newspapers, Inc.; Mrs. Richard B. Overbaugh of Saugerties, a former member of the Saugerties School Board.

A difficult task is ahead for the judges in selecting three out of the nine papers entered from the Ulster County schools. The three best papers will be selected on the basis of accuracy of information, evidence of active research, originality, interest, journalistic technique and coverage of one or both of this year's subjects: "Can We Wipe Out TB in Our Town?" and "Your Future in a Health Career."

The school press project is sponsored annually by the National Tuberculosis Association through the local affiliates and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Robert L. Brown Jr., program assistant with the Ulster County TB and Health Association, said, "The project activities are planned as incentives for students to investigate and report on tuberculosis, a major public health problem, as it affects their own lives." Mr. Brown has met with members of the school press groups in Ulster County to discuss the tuberculosis problem in Ulster County and statistics on TB from records of the Department of Health.

The films — "Goodbye Mr. Germ" and the new TB film "Are You Positive?" have been shown to the students.

This school project is sponsored in Ulster County by the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

Lake George Forest Fire Under Control

BOLTON LANDING (AP)—A forest fire that burned about 50 acres of heavy timber on the shore of Lake George was under control today.

A crew of 40 volunteer firefighters, headed by a forest ranger, bested the fire yesterday. It broke out Saturday night in stateowned forest on the east side of Tongue Mountain.

The ranger, Leonard Truax, blamed careless hunters for the fire.

The fire fighters reached the scene by boat from Bolton Landing.

Data Is Given On Tardy Start Of U. S. Missiles

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — What happened? Now what? And who's in charge?

Those are things a Senate subcommittee wants to know as it begins hearings today on why this country fell behind Russia on missiles and satellites.

Here is background — on names, terms and problems — as the hearings unfold. Missiles fall into two main classes: long-range and short-range.

There are two kinds of long-range missiles:

1. The IRBM — intermediate range ballistic missile — which can travel about 1,500 miles. This country has been pushing three: the Air Force's Thor, the Army's Jupiter, and the Navy's Polaris. None is in production and probably won't be before late next year or early 1963.

2. The ICBM — intercontinental ballistic missile — which can travel 5,000 to 5,500 miles. This country is developing two: the Titan and the Atlas — both Air Force projects. Four years may be needed to get them in production.

There are various short-range missiles for use by Army, Navy, and Air Force. For example the Nike, shot from the ground, is part of this country's defense against invading planes.

These shorter range missiles will probably play a small part in the hearings.

IRBM's with hydrogen warheads and fired from Russia, could flatten Western Europe. This country could do the same to European Russia if its bases around the Iron Curtain countries had IRBM's.

The much further ranging ICBM could be fired across a continent and an ocean: from Russia to the United States or from here to there. The Russian claim they have the ICBM. But it's questionable they have them in quantity production.

The Russians are ahead in satellites, as their launching of the two Sputniks showed.

Of equal importance to the committee — besides finding out what caused the American lag — is what is being done to speed missile development now and what is needed.

Matter of FACT

At the age of 17, Benjamin Franklin arrived in Philadelphia after a trip by boat and on foot from New York. All the clothing he owned was stuffed in the pockets of his great coat. To satisfy his hunger, he purchased three enormous loaves of bread. As he walked down the street, eating one loaf, carrying another under each arm, and his pockets bulging, one of the first people he met was Deborah Reed. All she could do was laugh, never dreaming she would one day be his wife.

ONLY A DIVERSION

It has now been duly noted by almost everyone that Westerns are going great guns this fall on television. The pun is intentional. For the scripts of most TV Westerns are liberally punctuated with gunfire. They make it seem that in the old West no difference of opinion was ever settled by any other means.

This nonsensical balloon of fiction has often been pricked by men who either knew the West or have studied it enough to understand that gunplay was not the favorite outdoor sport. The balloon is pricked once again in a volume of the collected works of Eugene Manlove Rhodes called "The Rhodes Reader." Rhodes saw frontiersmen as hard-working fellows for whom homicide "was never more than a diversion."

We commend this interesting book especially to those of our readers whose children are beginning to think that the old West really was the kind of gun-toting dream land that television portrays nightly.

DRINKING DRIVERS

In a special study of 501 fatal Christmas holiday accidents, which killed 609 persons, the National Safety Council found drinking drivers were involved in 55 per cent of the accidents. At other times of the year they are involved in about 30 per cent.

Social drinkers, because of the stepped up festivity of the season, present a greater traffic hazard than at any other time of the year. The throttle and the bottle are big factors in the Christmas holiday traffic toll.

In launching its annual Christmas safety campaign, the Council said the nation may have a safer and happier Christmas this year if drivers will exert a little extra care and caution. The traffic trend is encouraging. During the first nine months of the year traffic deaths dropped 3 per cent from the same period of the previous year—a saving of 800 lives.

"If this rate of improvement can be maintained the rest of the year," the Council said, "more than 1,000 lives can be saved on the highway in 1957. But the Christmas holidays will be the decisive factor."

PLENTY OF FOOD

The Department of Agriculture announced the other day that there would be plenty of food for Americans in 1958. The announcement caused barely a ripple. Of course there will be plenty of food in the United States!

The interesting thing about this is that, in very large areas of the world populated by many millions of people, such an announcement would cause much more than a ripple in the public interest. It would be the occasion for wild celebration. Enough food for all! No starvation in 1958—no real hunger, even; no worrying about where tomorrow's supper will come from. Plenty of food!

This is no exaggeration. In large parts of the world whole generations live and die without even experiencing anything like the abundance that we take for granted. This is a fitting yardstick against which to measure the good fortune of all who live in this land of good things served with the wonderful sauce of freedom.

LONG-RUN POWER

Word that the United States expects to launch an atomic-powered merchant ship in 1960 is good news in special sense. It is a reminder that, even in this dawn era of the intercontinental ballistic missile, there are still great peacetime values in the harnessed power of the atom.

There is a general tendency to forget this. That is true partly because the news about military developments seems more dramatic and exciting than news of power plants and other civilian uses for atomic energy. There is a particular fascination about super-bombs, and missiles to deliver them at fantastic speeds, and satellites that are innocent today but may be deadly weapons tomorrow.

But if civilization is to endure, the

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
LOST EXPERIENCE

It is impossible not to wonder what has become of all the men who worked on the Manhattan Project and actually produced the atom bomb before anybody else in the world did. These men had an extraordinary experience; they learned how to accomplish the impossible; they put together, Army, Navy, Air Force, engineers, and scientists and molded them into a unit that did succeed in accomplishing what it was instructed to accomplish.

Why are not those men consulted concerning the missiles and rockets about which we see constant press releases but no outstanding achievement? No war was ever won by a battle of press agents. The men of the Manhattan Project did some things remarkably well; they also made some horrible mistakes. Their security was the most complete ever encountered in an American enterprise; nevertheless Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the Rosenbergs and other Russian agents did manage to steal whatever they wanted to steal. Our present organization for missiles and rockets could surely learn something from the men who managed the Manhattan Project. Why must we lose all that experience and all that talent? Why must we always start all over again with novices?

General Leslie Groves, who headed up the Manhattan Project and delivered the atom bomb, is now working for the Sperry Rand Corporation along with General Douglas MacArthur. Whether he makes Univacs or electric razors or carbon paper, he could still be of invaluable advisory service to our government. Is anyone now engaged on rockets and missiles more experienced than Groves or with a greater record of successful accomplishment?

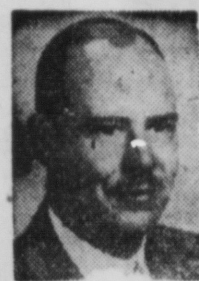

Why do we waste so much talent? Why do we have to start everything as a fresh enterprise when so many men, alive and still active, are available? Do we educate men at West Point at great expense to have them spend valuable years making tin cans?

I was thinking of this as I read a paragraph in a report prepared by General Charles A. Willoughby who knows more about that part of Asia where Red China, Soviet Russia, Japan and the United States meet—namely Japan, North China, Korea, Siberia. Here is a specialist who is not being used, just as his former chief, General Douglas MacArthur, is never consulted by his former secretary, President Eisenhower. The paragraph that intrigued me in the Willoughby report reads: "While not absolute, Russian technological advances are a form of political retribution, the boomerang of 'unconditional surrender,' the Morgenthau-Jehovan revenge complex that drove Germany's ablest military technicians into the Russian orbit, to escape the sinister absurdities of 'Volks Gerichte' and post-facto 'War Crimes' tribunals. The 'Schorkel' 'jet' and the 'rocket' were initial German designs. The only remaining Western development of significance, the atom-bomb was promptly stolen by an American-British-Canadian spy ring, sheltered by the jurisdictional softness of Western justice."

This is only too true, but there is nothing that anyone can do about it now. The Russians have made enormous progress in these fields. We have, at long last, given up the battleship which is no longer of any military value; we have built an atomic submarine which is a great achievement. Our task is to stockpile intercontinental missiles and to create a defensive missile destroying weapon. These we do not have and all the hopeful propaganda from Washington about what we shall have in 1958 or 1959 is utterly meaningless because the world does not stand still waiting for us to catch up. What is essential for a diplomatic victory is some action now that is convincing. Talk is not convincing compared with the Sputnik.

Either we catch up or we do not catch up. One of the Russian tricks in disarmament is to reduce the number of divisions in being in NATO. There are about three Russian divisions to every one NATO division. If the reduction is equal, we can disband all our divisions and leave them with two divisions in being for every one we scrap. The success of such an enterprise would be equivalent to winning a war without fighting. What kind of intellect thinks that way? Perhaps what we really suffer from is an inability to do problems in simple subtraction such as one minus one leaves zero. No Univac is needed to prove that; it can be done with matchsticks.

Cerebral Palsy Requires Patient, Long-Range Care

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

A touching plea for help comes from Mrs. T. who writes, "My sister was told a short time ago that her little son, two years and four months old, has cerebral palsy. He was late starting to walk and drags his right leg and cannot grasp things with his right hand. Also he is slightly cross-eyed. This has been a terrible shock and worry."

Cerebral palsy is a disorder which results from injury to the brain during or immediately following birth. It is believed that over 10,000 children are being born with cerebral palsy in the United States alone each year.

The diagnosis usually can be made within the first six months of life and almost always by the time a youngster is a year old. It should be made early because the results of treatment are better if started promptly.

CHILDREN handicapped by cerebral palsy need both physical and mental care. On the physical side there should be a long-range plan set up by the medical advisers with the cooperation of the home and the school. Special muscle training should be started at the earliest possible moment in order to decrease the difficulty with movement.

Certain games are particularly adaptable for these handicapped youngsters. Exercises, using music or verses and songs, may be useful. Regular eating, sleeping, resting, bathing, dressing and play habits should accompany the exercises prescribed.

A calm, harmonious home life is desirable. Education should be given at the speed which the youngster can take easily and carried as far as it seems reasonable. A child afflicted by cerebral palsy often learns more slowly than others of the same age.

Encouragement is important. The youngster with cerebral palsy should have some play with normal children. Although these youngsters need sympathy and affection, they ought not to be pampered or spoiled.

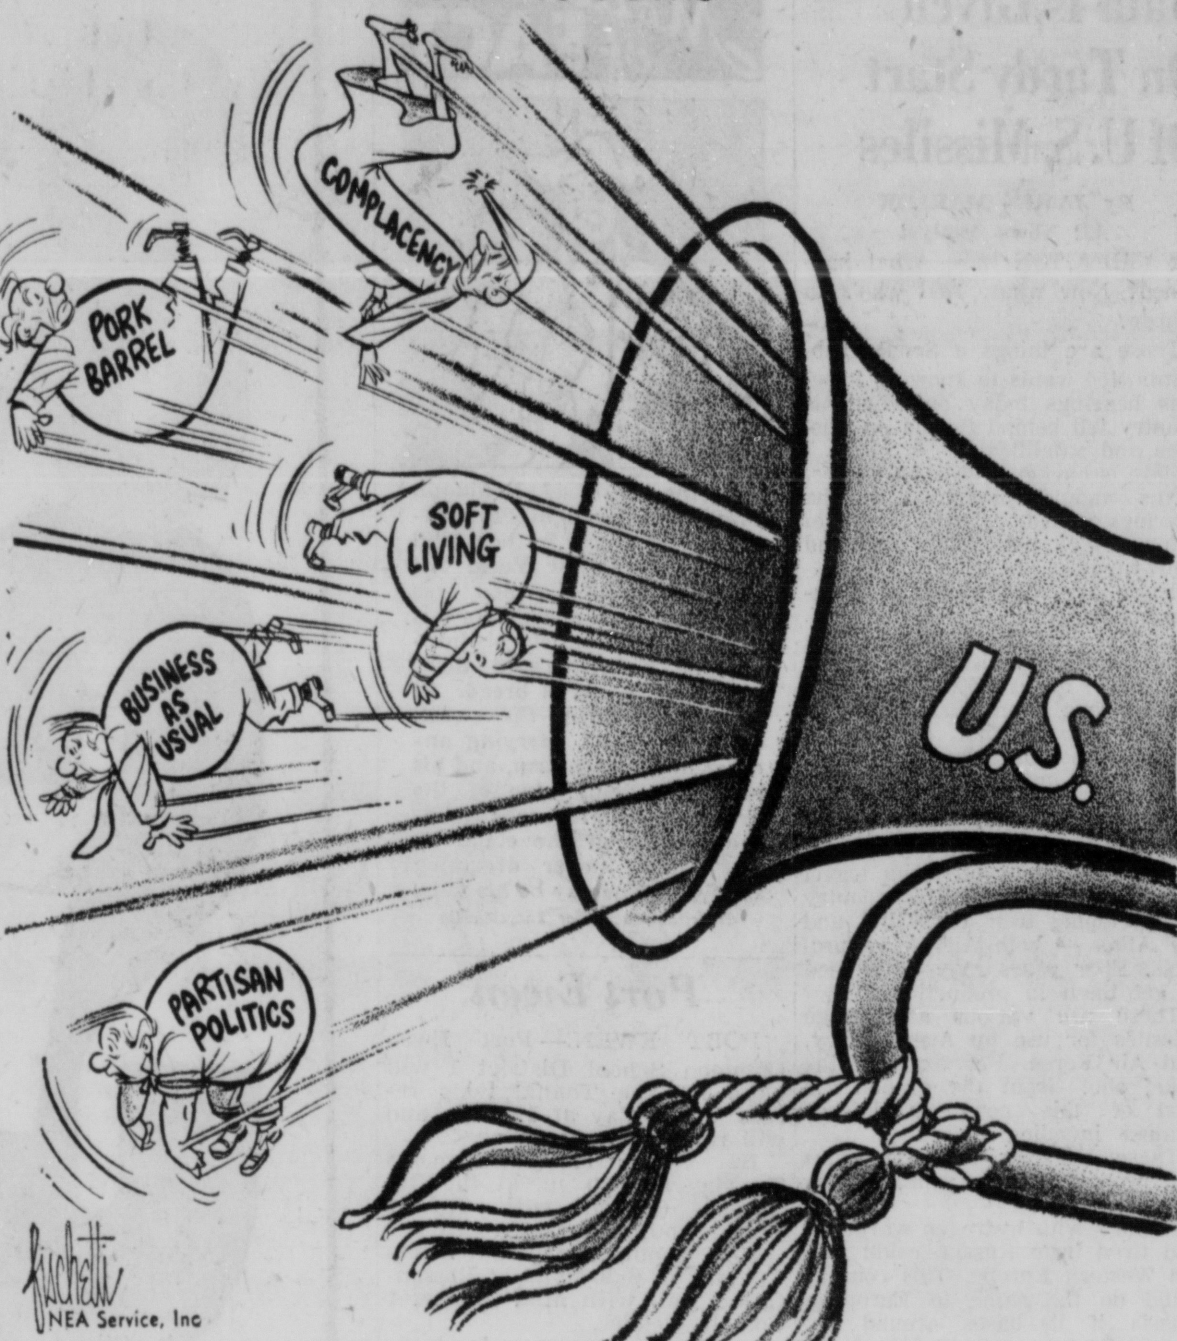

THERE ARE NOW many sources of information and help for people like Mrs. T's sister and others in her situation. The National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, 11 South LaSalle Street, Chicago 3, Ill., publishes a Parent Study Guide. This organization maintains many branches in states and cities and some of these, like the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children, also have their own reading material.

There is a fine pamphlet called "Help at Last for the Cerebral Palsy," which I believe can be obtained for 25 cents from the society just mentioned.

There is also an organization known as United Cerebral Palsy, 369 Lexington Avenue, New York 17, N. Y., which is active both in research and education on this disorder.

atomic-powered ships and the electric plants will in the long run be of far greater significance than bombs and missiles.

Call to Arms

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The new, Sputnik-inspired interest in doing something to promote increased education of scientists and engineers in the United States — instead of just talking about it — is reduced eventually to questions of statistics and money.

The big pitch now is that it's going to take many millions of dollars to build more college and laboratory facilities and to pay professors higher salaries.

But the new U. S. Office of Education study on Soviet Russia's school system shows plainly that the United States is now spending a lot more for higher education than the U.S.S.R. Also, the U. S. has more colleges and more students enrolled.

Whatever is wrong with U. S. colleges is something else.

The U. S. has 1,900 accredited colleges and universities awarding degrees. Over 3,000,000 students are enrolled in these institutions, or about 25 per cent of all college-age youngsters.

Russia has only 765 colleges and universities with a full-time enrollment of under 1,300,000 and a part-time enrollment of 600,000. This is about 10 per cent of college-age youth.

OVER 354,000 degrees were given in the U. S. last year. Russia has no comparable degree system but statistical reports indicate 225,000 graduations a year—175,000 for full-time students, 50,000 for part-time and correspondence course graduates.

Total federal, state, local and private expenditures for all education in the U. S., with 170 million population, is estimated at 15.5 billion dollars.

The total planned educational budget for the Soviet Union with a population of 200 million is put at 68.4 billion rubles. At six rubles to the dollar, instead of the official four-ruble rate, this would be the equivalent of 11.6 billion dollars. There is no check on how much of this planned budget is actually spent and what for.

From these simple comparisons it is obvious that the U. S. higher education system is far larger and has much better potentialities than that of the U.S.S.R. Organization and emphasis on what are considered the most important educational goals may therefore be responsible for achieving Soviet results. Here are a few factors to consider in this connection:

STUDENTS IN RUSSIAN institutions of higher learning are paid a stipend—wage, in American—for attending college.

According to "Soviet Professional Manpower," by Nicholas DeWitt of the U. S. Office of Education, this wage is from 2,000 to 3,000 rubles, or $600 to $1,000 a year.

This is from a half to two-thirds of what the average Russian worker is paid. It is more than enough to pay the Russian student's board and lodging. Exceptional students who make high grades may get from 25 to 50 per cent more.

There is no college tuition. All a student has to do to get in is pass a stiff entrance exam. If he can't pass at age 18, he has to register for the draft. If he flunks his courses after he does get in, his stipend stops and out he goes on his ear to the army, the salt mines of Siberia or wherever they want to send him.

This is admittedly a good incentive to make college students study. But could it be introduced in the U.S.A.?

DEWITT ESTIMATES that from 70 to 75 per cent of the Russian students receive this stipend. The Russians claim the figure is higher—85 to 90 per cent. The total budgeted outlay for these student wages in 1953-4 was just under six billion rubles, or about a billion dollars.

Now this is admittedly subsidizing higher education in a great big way. Introduction of such a system in this country would probably meet violent opposition from the heads of privately endowed colleges and universities. But it gives the congressional advocates of legislation for federal scholarships for exceptional students a strong talking point.

Still another argument in favor of these scholarships is that the cost of college and university education in the U. S. is now so high that many families can't afford it.

Another new U. S. Office of Education study on the costs of attending college in this country puts the average at from $1,500 to $2,000 a year, with a maximum of $5,000. This is from two to five times the average Russian student's stipend.

I have received a carbon copy of the conference of Feb. 8, 1898, in which the Apaches, Yumas and Mojaves were whipsawed out of a railroad right-of-way, 100 wide, across a 45-mile stretch of their San Carlos Reservation, in Arizona, for $8,000. Sedgwick Rice, First Lieutenant, 7th U. S. Cavalry, acting Indian agent, represented the Department of the Interior. The railroad was the Gila Valley, Globe and Northern. It conceded the Indians the right to ride all trains free, but only outside the cars, for 30 years.

The Indian spokesmen were at home in English but nevertheless had official interpreters, one of whom, representing the Apaches, was named Constant Bread. Each male Indian over 14 got $10. The road offered $6,000 and the Indians had feebly held out for $10,000. The Indians were doing business at gunpoint, for the Department had sent out instructions to get the thing done. An Apache named Bylish expressed this grim resignation when he said: "We have all held out to say 'no,' but it is no use, for we can't get away from you."

Another Apache, Chilchooana, said: "We won't have all this money all the time. But you will have the railroad all the time. We are all poor, and $10,000 is not very much after it is distributed to all of us." Females did not share in this munificence, but, inferentially, they seem to have been included in the tribal entirety when Bylish said: "We are not talking about ourselves, but we are talking about our children. In 10 years, we are liable to be dead and we want our children to be riding." The railroad had tried to limit the privilege to 10 years. The railroad finally went to the extravagant lengths of giving the privilege to the children of the tribe, and white men who grew up by the railroad. What will be gained? Only little things you give us now. After that we won't gain nothing."

Nolinay said: "You will haul coke into Globe and copper out, and gold and silver." "Lots of times I want to buy a horse," said Bylish. "The man asks a big price, but we get to liking the horse and eventually we pay what he asks. Now we have consented to $8,000 we want that written about riding, not misunderestood."

Lieutenant Rice said it would not be fair to other passengers to let the Indians inside the passenger cars, free.

Bylish said: "I have seen lots of Indian passengers that goes to Washington but they get money from the government for their land so they go to Washington and pay their way. We have been to Washington and seen Indians like us keeping saunas where there is whiskey and drinking whiskey same as the white man, and have plenty money. I would like to ride inside. On the outside, I am liable to fall off. What damage am I going to do your seats inside? When I went to Washington, I rode inside. Some of us would fall off, sitting, outside, and get killed."

Garland said: "You would have to look out that you would not fall off."

Bylish: "All right, I will consent to ride on the platform. But $9,000 is not too much. In selling a horse, it is better to ask a little more."

Rice: "I want to know if you are all satisfied." Indians: "We all say 'Yes.'"

Civil Rights Board Faces Controversy at the Start

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—The new Commission on Civil Rights is headed for considerable controversy even before it begins work. A question has arisen as to whether the appointment of Justice Stanley Reed violates the principle of the "separation of powers" in the Constitution. Although retired, an associate justice of the Supreme Court is still eligible under existing law to perform judicial duties. Justice Reed recently served on the bench in the U. S. Court of Claims and could be assigned to sit in other lower court cases if he wished.

Members of the Senate are planning to raise the issue when the name of the former associate justice comes up for confirmation next January as a member of the Civil Rights Commission. There have been several justices of the Supreme Court who have from time to time served in an advisory capacity to the executive branch, especially in international affairs, such as on arbitration tribunals. But there never has been an instance in which a former justice—who in retirement still "retains his office," as the statute describes his position in the judiciary—has been appointed by the President to a post in the executive branch that requires confirmation by the Senate.

Court Rulings Cited
Various court decisions have held that when an official takes a second office created under the provisions of the Constitution he automatically gives up the first one.

Justice Reed is an able and conscientious man, and there are good reasons why President Eisenhower wants him to serve as chairman of the new commission. Under present law Mr. Reed, whether on active or inactive duty still receives his full salary of $25,000 a year. Office quarters are provided for him alongside the other justices in the Supreme Court Building.

The Constitution is explicit in defining the separate powers of the three branches of the Federal government. The law enacted by Congress on Sept. 9, 1957, created the Commission on Civil Rights as part of the executive branch of the government. In fact, the Department of Justice is planning to transfer W. Wilson White—now an Assistant Attorney General—from his present duties on civil rights to function as general counsel for the new commission without even submitting his name to the Senate as required for a new appointee. This is being done presumably because the commission is considered a virtual adjunct of the Department of Justice. The proposed transfer, however, has aroused some Southern senators. Sen. Strom Thurmond, of South Carolina, Democrat, for example, says that the move is designed to avoid going through the process of a confirmation inquiry notwithstanding the fact that an additional post of Assistant Attorney General was created primarily to take care of the legal work of the new commission.

White Inquiry Seen

It seems likely that the Senate Judiciary Committee will wish to inquire into Mr. White's qualifications for the new job even though his name isn't formally submitted. For it is reported that he masterminded the legal moves in the Little Rock case and hence, it is argued, he approached the task with a preconceived position as to the alleged obligation of the Federal government to use military power to enforce court orders.

For the new commission is to be a sort of "super F. B. I." It is commanded by law to "investigate allegations in writing under oath or affirmation that certain citizens have been deprived of their right to vote and to have that vote counted by reason of their color, race, religion or national origin."

Presumably, such testimony as is turned up will lead to prosecutions under companion provisions of the same new law passed last September. The new law also orders the commission to "study and collect information concerning legal developments constituting a denial of equal protection of the laws under the Constitution." The commission is also required to "appraise the laws and policies of the Federal government with respect to equal protection of the laws under the Constitution."

Has Subpoena Powers

Here is an investigation into "legal developments" which is to be conducted by an executive commission, with subpoena powers analogous to those of an investigating committee of Congress. Is it within the bounds of legal propriety for a former justice of the Supreme Court to sit in retrospective judgment on the wisdom of the ruling of the Supreme Court itself of which he was a member when it declared that separate educational facilities are for psychological reasons "inherently unequal?"

Certainly this issue becomes a pertinent subject for study by the new commission, for it is just possible that an impartial board or commission in its appraisal of "the laws and policies of the Federal government with respect to equal protection of the laws under the Constitution" might be confronted with evidence or testimony leading to the conclusion that separate facilities in public schools could be equal and that only state laws and not Federal laws were involved in the segregation controversy. The road offered $6,000 and the Indians had feebly held out for $10,000. The Indians were doing business at gunpoint, for the Department had sent out instructions to get the thing done. An Apache named Bylish expressed this grim resignation when he said: "We have all held out to say 'no,' but it is no use, for we can't get away from you."

Another Apache, Chilchooana, said: "We won't have all this money all the time. But you will have the railroad all the time. We are all poor, and $10,000 is not very much after it is distributed to all of us." Females did not share in this munificence, but, inferentially, they seem to have been included in the tribal entirety when Bylish said: "We are not talking about ourselves, but we are talking about our children. In 10 years, we are liable to be dead and we want our children to be riding." The railroad had tried to limit the privilege to 10 years. The railroad finally went to the extravagant lengths of giving the privilege to the children of the tribe, and white men who grew up by the railroad. What will be gained? Only little things you give us now. After that we won't gain nothing."

Nolinay said: "You will haul coke into Globe and copper out, and gold and silver." "Lots of times I want to buy a horse," said Bylish. "The man asks a big price, but we get to liking the horse and eventually we pay what he asks. Now we have consented to $8,000 we want that written about riding, not misunderestood."

Lieutenant Rice said it would not be fair to other passengers to let the Indians inside the passenger cars, free.

Bylish said: "I have seen lots of Indian passengers that goes to Washington but they get money from the government for their land so they go to Washington and pay their way. We have been to Washington and seen Indians like us keeping saunas where there is whiskey and drinking whiskey same as the white man, and have plenty money. I would like to ride inside. On the outside, I am liable to fall off. What damage am I going to do your seats inside? When I went to Washington, I rode inside. Some of us would fall off, sitting, outside, and get killed."

Garland said: "You would have to look out that you would not fall off."

Bylish: "All right, I will consent to ride on the platform. But $9,000 is not too much. In selling a horse, it is better to ask a little more."

Rice: "I want to know if you are all satisfied." Indians: "We all say 'Yes.'"

Brothers Find Plane Wreckage

WORCESTER, Vt. (AP)—Three men working by flashlight after 100 searchers called off operations reached the wreckage of a private airplane, early yesterday, in a snow-covered swamp area.

Roderick Ryer, 24, the pilot, and Herbert Hayes, 34, both of Hawthorne, N. Y., were killed when the plane crashed near the summit of 2,500-foot-high Hampshire Hills during a snowstorm Saturday.

Most of the 100 searchers who sought the plane afoot, on horseback and in an airplane had gone home to await daylight.

Three brothers, however, continued their operations by flashlight and spotted the plane in a snow-covered swamp area.

The brothers—John Hovey, 24, of Deep River, Conn., Floyd, 22, of Skowhegan, Maine, and Lawrence, 18, of Worcester, Vt.—were guided to the spot by Mrs. Donald Maxham who said she heard a low-flying plane and a crash.

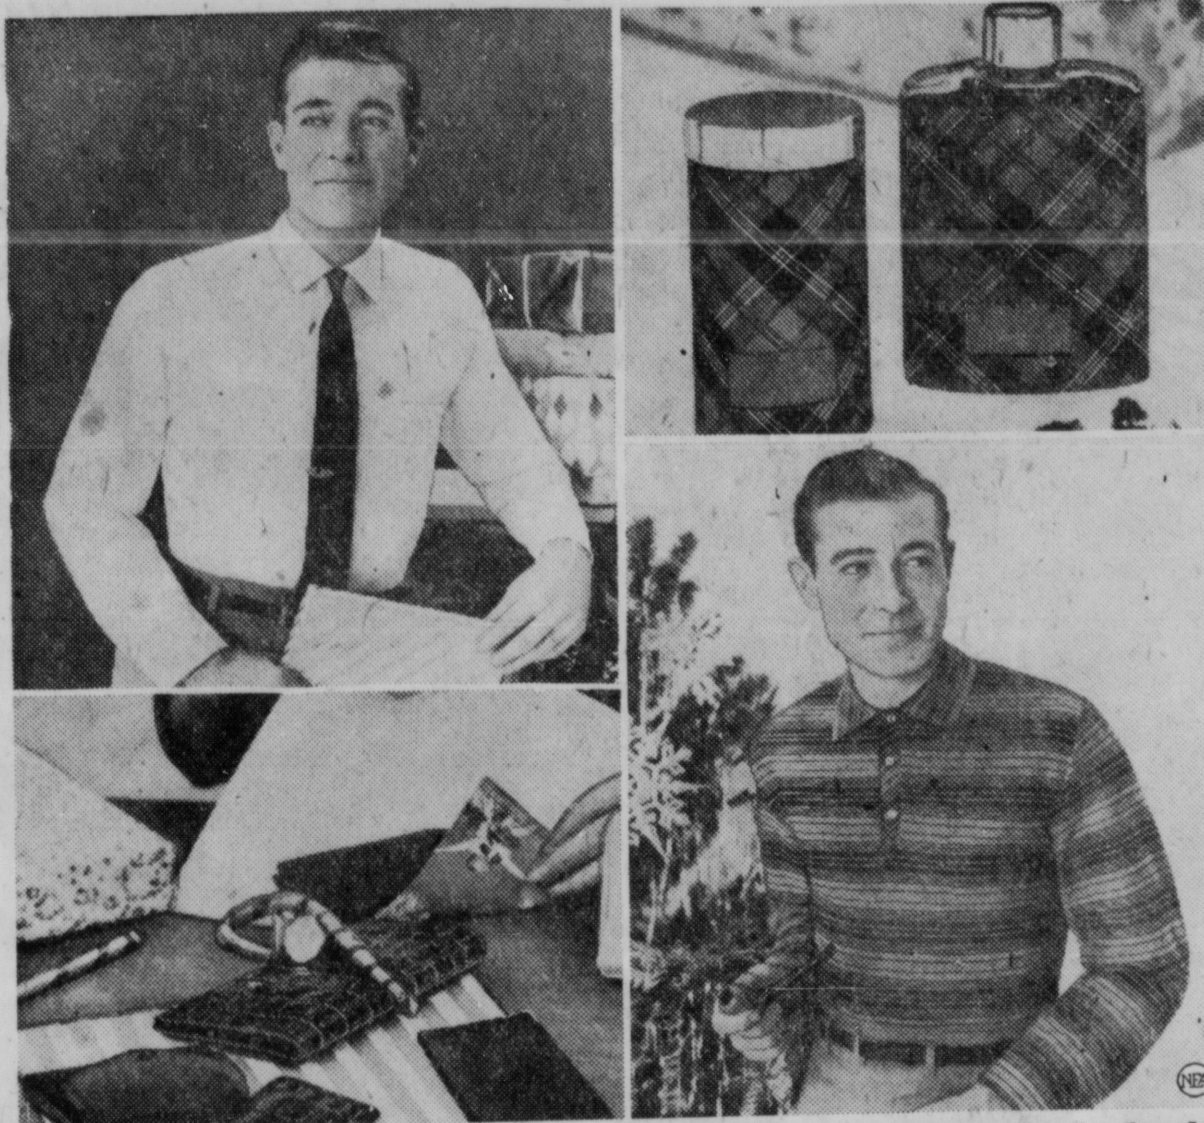

The Burlington, Vt., Civil Aeronautics Authority said Ryer had reported "heavy icing conditions" at 6,500 feet. Officials tried to guide the plane to Burlington but they failed to establish further contact.

When found, the plane's nose was buried six feet into the swamp. Parts of the aircraft were scattered over a wide area.

Dr. Walter Ryer of Hawthorne, N. Y., said his son was an air national guard pilot and a business school student at Columbia University.

He identified Hayes as a neighbor and contractor who had been planning to purchase Christmas trees in Quebec for resale in Hawthorne.

Get Him Play or Wear Item

Brand new to put under his tree this Christmas is this shirt (upper left) of all-cotton broadcloth that can be washed and worn with no ironing. This Van Heusen design is chlorine-resistant, has permanent collar shape that cannot be lost or broken. After-shave lotion and deodorant are packed together by Scaforth (upper right) in containers covered with plaid fabric and capped in gold. Nice for his shelf of grooming accessories. Small and handsome leather gifts (lower left) include alligator secretary-wallet, slim evening wallet in pin seal, pin seal wallet and key case combination. The cotton knit sport shirt (lower right) takes on a new look in carefully tailored design with placket treatment.

Prince George Of Greece Dead

PARIS (AP)—Prince George of Greece died early today at his home in suburban St. Cloud. He was 88.

The second son of the late King George I of Greece, he was an uncle of the present King Paul of Greece and was linked to the royal houses of Denmark and England and the pre-communist monarchs of Russia.

Born in Corfu, he settled in France more than half a century ago but kept the rank of vice admiral in the Greek fleet.

His wife, Princess Marie Bonaparte, and two children Prince Pierre and Princess Eugenie were at his bedside when he died.

He will be buried in the royal sepulcher near Marathon.

Prince George suffered a brain hemorrhage in 1956 which paralyzed both legs and he had been bedridden for more than a year.

Indians Continue Fight Against Dam

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Seneca Indians of New York State began another round today in their fight to block construction of a proposed 101 million dollar flood control dam at Kinzua, Pa.

Federal District Judge John J. Sirica scheduled a hearing on the Justice Department's motion to dismiss a suit filed by the Senecas to halt construction of the dam.

The hearing date was arranged after Edward E. O'Neill, attorney for the Seneca nation, filed a brief opposing the dismissal motion.

The Indians, headed by Cornelius V. Seneca, their president, disclaim any intention of obstructing the government's flood control project. But, they maintain, they want every possible alternative to the high dam explored before construction gets under way.

South African Mining Magnate Died Today

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—Sir Ernest Oppenheimer, South African mining magnate and one of the world's richest men, died today at the age of 77.

Oppenheimer, chairman of the huge mining combine, the Anglo-American Corp., had been in failing health for several weeks. Several weeks ago he had been ordered to a hospital for a rest.

He was not only South Africa's most powerful mining and financial figure but took an important part in the nation's political and national life.

Why We Say--

"HIGHER THAN A KITE"

"PICKPOCKET": This expression was "Higher Than a Kite" when it began. According to tradition, Gilderoy was a robber who picked the pockets of English statesmen. As was the custom, the bigger the crime, the higher the gallows the man would be hanged on. Gilderoy was executed on the highest gallows ever erected. The word kite is Gaelic for body, thus explaining the use of "kite" in the expression.

Von Brentano Is Deeply Satisfied With Talks Here

WASHINGTON (AP)—Intensive talks between Secretary of State Dulles and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano have ended with both men pronouncing themselves pleased with the results.

Von Brentano flew here Saturday for two days of conferences with Dulles. The German foreign policy chief, who had interrupted a visit to Rome, headed back for Italy yesterday. On the way, he met briefly with French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau in New York.

The purpose of Von Brentano's flying trip here was to discuss proposals for strengthening the North Atlantic alliance. Such proposals are due to come before a NATO summit meeting in Paris next month.

Von Brentano told newsmen he was "really deeply satisfied with the talks." He said there were "differences in nuances" but that "we found that we are going the same way in all questions which really move us."

The United States and Germany, he said, are agreed there should be increased scientific-technical cooperation within NATO and regular political consultation among the alliance's member nations.

Dulles echoed Von Brentano's expression of satisfaction with the outcome of their conversations. The secretary of state said "we found ourselves in accord on major policy questions."

Canvass Begun Here To Compile Dog Census

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren today announced that Officers Charles McCullough and Edward Edwards had begun a canvass of the city to compile a dog census.

He said the survey would take approximately five weeks and reminded dog owners that 1957 licenses expire December 31.

The 1958 dog license fee is due Jan. 1, 1958, the chief said, and reminded residents that all dogs must be licensed. When at large, the dogs must wear a metal tag, he noted.

Dog licenses and tags are issued at the city clerk's office.

Complaints Hit New High Over Discrimination

NEW YORK (AP)—The State Commission Against Discrimination says it has received a record number of complaints during the first nine months of this year.

Of the 683 complaints received, Chairman Charles Abrams said yesterday, 210 were filed simultaneously by a group of 10 longshoremen against 14 stevedoring companies, four shipping lines, two government agencies and a labor union.

Abrams said the 683 complaints were more than the total for any entire year in SCAD's 12-year history and 242 more than were received during the like nine-month period last year.

The policies of 78 per cent of the state's largest employers—those with more than 1,000 workers each—have been scanned by SCAD in the 12 years, Abrams said. The result has been to widen opportunities for minority groups, he added. A total of 318 companies are represented by the 78 per cent figure.

Heart Attack Fatal To Mexican Artist

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Diego Rivera, whose violent paintings and defiant politics made him a charging bull in the world of art, died of a heart attack early today in his studio at suburban San Angel.

He would have been 71 Dec. 8. Until phlebitis paralyzed his right hand and arm several weeks ago, Rivera was working on three paintings with the zest which characterized his work for half a century.

A heart specialist said yesterday that the artist's condition had worsened, but friends thought he might live until the end of the year.

Only members of his family and his physician were present when he died at 1:15 a. m. He is survived by his fourth wife, Ama

Hurtado and two daughters, Ruth and Guadalupe.

Rivera had been in and out of the Communist Party since 1922. He returned only last year from Russia and proclaimed that Soviet medicine had cured him of cancer.

From his earliest days Rivera expressed defiance in his controversial paintings. At times he wore a pistol while he worked in public.

One of the last major controversies which he stirred was in 1950, when he completed a painting which the Mexican government had commissioned for an exhibition in Europe. Government officials were appalled when they learned that the painting showed U. S. soldiers committing atrocities in Korea. The work was withdrawn from the art show.

Born in Guanajuato, Mexico, in 1886, Rivera was the son of a rural school inspector of Spanish blood. His mother was a mixture of Indian and Spanish.

Doctors Warn Picking Spreads Warts! New Discovery Removes Warts Quickly

Amazing New Compound... Used at Home... Removes Warts Safely Without Cutting or Burning

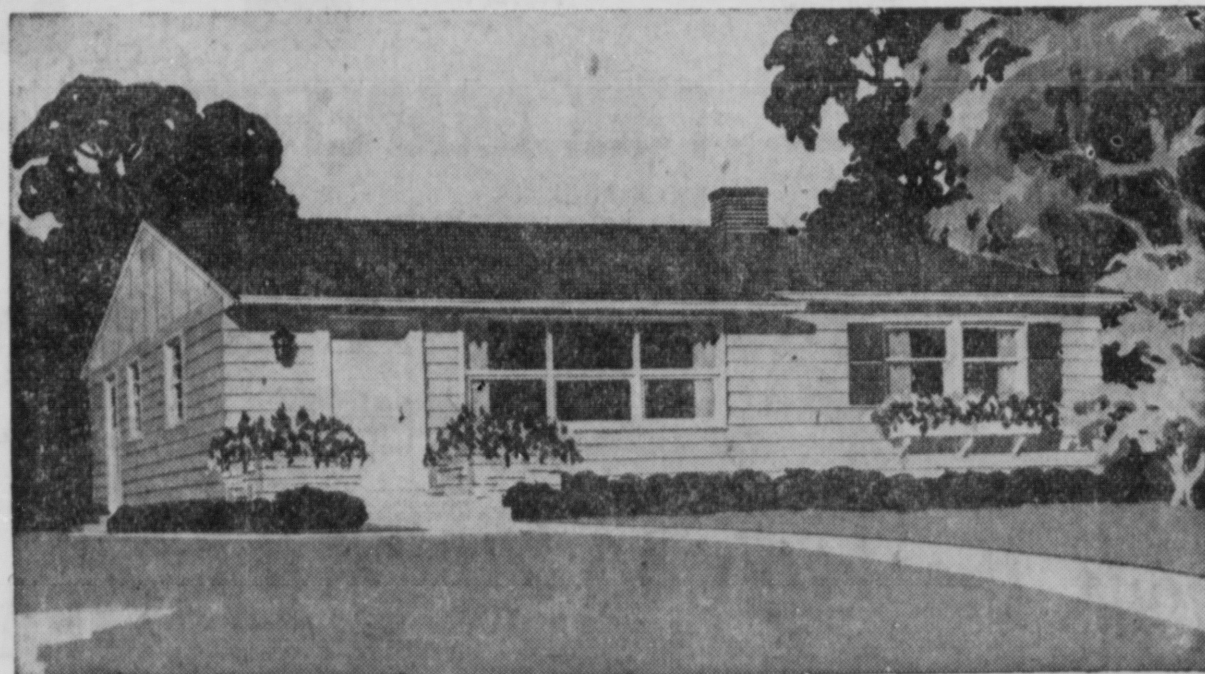

New York, N.Y. (Special)—Medical science has linked warts with a contagious virus that may spread them to all parts of the body. Doctors say picking at warts increases the danger of spreading and urge that they be removed as quickly as possible.

Now science has discovered a new substance that removes these growths safely... without danger of cutting, burning or infection. This substance, in easy-to-use liquid form, dissolves warts, leaving normal, healthy skin. Reports show this liquid can be safely used at home, even for children. There is no pain, no ugly scarring. In cases observed by a leading New York skin clinic, this liquid proved its ability to penetrate the wart, destroy its cells, and cause the wart to fall apart and disappear.

The name of this new liquid is Compound W*. It is now available for the first time without prescription at drug counters everywhere for just 98¢. Compound W is guaranteed to remove warts or money refunded.

Radio Figure Dies, Had State Programs

CORAL CABLES, Fla. (AP) — Fred Jeske, former radio singer, announcer and executive in central New York State, died Saturday at the Veterans Administration hospital in Coral Gables.

He was about 60.

Jeske had popular shows on WSYR, WNDR and former station WAGE, all in Syracuse, N. Y.

In 1953, he was manager of WKAL in Rome, N. Y., for about eight months.

He came to Florida about a year ago after a time as morning announcer and vice president in charge of programming for WNDR.

Jeske's career as an entertainer spanned that of radio itself. He began his radio singing career in Chicago with a group called "The Melodians" and then moved to stations in Milwaukee, Cleveland, Des Moines and Atlanta.

He went to Syracuse in 1936. Throughout his radio career he sang and played the piano.

Heart Attack Fatal

CORTLAND (AP) — Irvo Lodetti, 20-year-old hunter from the Syracuse suburb of Solway, died Saturday of a heart attack in woods near here.

Lodetti, a construction worker, had become separated from two companions. Two other hunters found his body.

Governor Proclaims
Yule Seal Month

ALBANY (AP) — Gov. Harriman reminding New Yorkers the battle against tuberculosis is not yet won, today designated December as "Christmas Seal Month" in the state.

Harriman noted that modern medicine had cut the death rate from tuberculosis more than 80 per cent in the last 20 years. But he said more than 10,000 cases were reported in New York State alone last year, and the medical rehabilitation required still posed a "major need."

Proceeds from the sale of Christmas seals help support the work of the 65 tuberculosis and public health associations in New York.

TRUMANSBURG (AP) — Russell I. Doig, 59, principal of Trumansburg High School for 26 years, died of a heart attack while hunting deer Saturday at nearby Newfield.

Appointments Are Announced to College Boards

ALBANY (AP) — Gov. Harriman today announced the appointments of four men, including Mayor Donald W. Kramer of Binghamton, to the Harpur College council.

He announced two other appointments today and one yesterday to governing boards of colleges in the state university system.

Joining Kramer on the Harpur College council are Robert E. McCormick, 56, of New York City, vice president of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp.; James L. Kane, 38, of Buffalo, president of the State Federation of Post Office Clerks and the Buffalo Federation of Labor; and Morris Giltz, 54, a Binghamton attorney.

Editor Reappointed

Clarence T. Leighton, 63, editor of the Oswego Palladium-Times, was reappointed to a nine-year term on the council of the teachers college at Oswego.

Walter A. Lynch Jr., 36, of Port Washington, was appointed to the council of the agricultural and technical institute at Farmingdale, in a term ending in July, 1966. Lynch succeeds Mrs. Mabel E. Reiner of Freeport, whose term expired. He is a son of the late Supreme Court Justice Walter A. Lynch, who ran for governor on the Democratic ticket.

Yesterday, Harriman reappointed Mrs. Mary Brooks Picken of New York City to a full, nine-year term as a trustee of the State University Fashion Institute of Technology in New York City.

Liberal Arts Unit

Harpur College is the liberal arts unit of the state university.

Kramer, 49, was named to a term ending in July, 1966, to succeed Herbert F. Milligan of Binghamton, whose term expired. McCormick replaces Dr. James T. Ivory of Binghamton, who has reached the 70-year age limit, in a term ending in July, 1961.

Kane was named to a term ending in July, 1964, to succeed William H. Stimming of Newark Valley, whose term expired. Giltz will serve until July, 1965. He replaced Edward H. Prentice of Vestal, whose term expired. All the posts are unsalaried.

Urges Peace Prayers

ALBANY (AP) — On Thanksgiving Day, New Yorkers should pray for "the peace and welfare of all mankind," Gov. Harriman urged yesterday in a proclamation officially designating the Thursday holiday.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (U)—One of the fascinating aspects of "The Innocent Years" on NBC-TV was that we never would have had this intimate portrait of an era if it were not for the invention of television.

The "Project 20" production was one of those occasions when a snob who does not believe that television can provide artful entertainment should regret his refusal to buy a TV set.

Difficult for Book
The movies never have — or would have — undertaken this recreation of the age between 1900 and World War I from films made at the time. Books have been—and will be—written about the era; a book might be more analytical, but it is extremely difficult for printed words to convey the warmth and immediacy of the time itself recorded on celluloid.

So we are indebted to the creative spirit and exacting labor displayed by Henry Salom and his excellent staff in bringing "The Innocent Years" into the home. Needless to say, it should be repeated.

The narration, spoken by Alexander Scourby from a script by Salom and Richard Haner, was absorbing. Adaptations of musical scores of the period by Robert Bennett helped one recapture the authentic atmosphere.

Did you notice the vigorous actions of the people in the days of grandfather's prime? They were bustling at the seams with energy in those days. When Teddy Roosevelt chopped a tree, he slaughtered it. When William Howard Taft hit a golf ball, he killed it.

When Mark Twain had a movie camera pushed in his face, he snarled at it. When Thomas A. Edison, who suffered from deafness, couldn't hear an assistant, he slammed a fist on his desk. The rich were proud to display their wealth; the poor swung their dinner pails as they carried dollars instead of sandwiches. Immigrants hurried ashore at Ellis Island with the glow of people entering the promised land.

Understanding Grows
It's interesting how our understanding of the past has grown—and how creations like "The Innocent Years" help it to grow. In the 1920's Americans, scorned the life of the 1900's in an open revolt against the past. In the 1930's most Americans looked at the past of 30 years previously as an era of social injustice. In the 1940's that past era was largely ignored.

Perhaps it takes the lapse of a half-century to find positive virtues in an era. With all its faults, that age had virtues which shone in "The Innocent Years." They were without much self-consciousness in those days—and so less neurotic. Nobody dieted; nearly everybody thought that the world was his personal oyster; codes of ethics were simpler than now.

The program revealed that there was happiness in innocence.

The Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mother Solves No Problem By Resorting to Illness

Harry R. has been dating a girl in his high school class several nights a week. As he rarely gets home before 1 a. m., he's overtired from lack of sleep. His mother fiercely resents the girl as a selfish little number who cares a great deal about making Harry do what she wants—but very little about Harry.

So last Thursday when he announced he was joining her on a weekend visit to her uncle and aunt, his mother's inflamed emotions produced an attack of bursitis. In her darkened bedroom, surrounded by heating pads and medicine bottles, she moaned, "All right, go with her. I needed you and Dad to put up the storm windows this weekend. But if I catch more cold in this drafty house, it doesn't matter to you."

Like Mrs. R., we women often fight what we don't like by making ourselves appear weak and threatened. It's a very old but foolish form of feminine protest. So when we find ourselves resorting to it, let's reject it, thinking, "I'm sick because I can't make happen what I want to happen."

But refuse to feel shame for ourselves. From time immemorial, heroines of myth and folk tale have been ladies in distress.

In most appealing poses, we have been pictured tied to rocks and trees wringing our hands over our inability to cope with dragons and other aggressive monsters. In us all is the Cinderella who seeks to arouse sympathy by the rags and patches of helplessness. With ages of tradition behind us, why shouldn't we suffer from the unconscious belief that we must put up with the dragons and rags until a Prince or Fairy Grandmother appear to rescue us from them?

The rescuer is, of course, within ourselves.

It's necessary to realize this. For today, other people are bored not touched, by ladies in perpetual distress.

Mr. R. and Harry are more irritated than sympathetic with Mrs. R.'s self-induced suffering. They are not going to rescue her from her desire to control her son by making herself sick. That desire is a dragon she must face and conquer by herself.

What Harry needs is not an inflamed mother but the realization of his own resentment at the girl who abuses him. We can't spare him from this battle with his dragon any more than he can rescue us from ours.

Shoulder Pads

When making nylon dresses, make the shoulder pads out of the same material, stuffing them with the scraps of nylon left over from the dress. Shoulder pads made in this way are almost as quick to dry when laundered as the dress itself.

A ticket scalper is a fellow who makes it possible for you to see one football game for the price of five.

Far North Living

MADISON, Wis. (U)—Will the far northern areas of the world, uninhabited by man, provide a living area someday for part of the world's expanding population? It may be 20 years—perhaps 50—before the full value of a study underway at the University of Wisconsin is realized. The project, known as "High Latitude Frontier Settlement," seeks to discover future development potentialities of northern areas, primarily above the Arctic Circle.

Prof. Kirk Stone is directing studies of the northern sections of Norway, Sweden, Finland and Alaska. He will lead three research teams in field work.

"We recognize that only a relatively small percentage of the world's population is apt to move to far northern lands," Stone said, "but these are of great strategic importance, and extremely significant to the entire free world in both war and peace."

Hunter Is Shot To Death Today At Fleischmanns

A 20-year-old hunter from Hicksville, L. I. was accidentally shot to death by his brother this morning on Redkill Road, near Fleischmanns, Delaware County.

The dead man is John Henry Schuman who was shot to death by his brother, Herman Emil Schuman, 26, of Bethpage, L. I.

Margerville state police said John was driving east on Redkill Road about 9 a. m. when he saw a fox on the left of the road. He stopped the car and his brother got out and loaded his 30.06 Remington rifle.

He was closing the car door with his right hand when the rifle discharged, the bullet striking John in the left side of the head at the base of the skull and exiting behind the right ear.

Cpl. Michael Lisman, who investigated with Troopers R. R. Fuente and P. J. Parenteau, said John was apparently looking back toward the fox at the time of the tragic accident. Death was instantaneous.

The car started rolling backward down the road, striking a barn on the property of Arthur Stanton of the hamlet of Bedell.

Dr. A. Rottkov of Fleischmanns pronounced Schuman dead at the scene.

Dr. C. C. Holcomb of Margerville issued a verdict of accidental death due to gunshot wounds.

The body was removed to Herck Funeral Home, Margerville.

Roxbury Woman Finds Stranger In Her Kitchen

The mother of Identification Officer Earl Conro of Ulster County Sheriff's Office got quite a start Saturday afternoon when she entered her home in Roxbury, Delaware County, and found a man in her kitchen feeding himself.

Mrs. Howard Decker had just returned to her farm home on Route 30 about 5:15 p. m. with her husband.

Calmly Walked Out
Mrs. Decker entered the house and saw the man who calmly walked out the kitchen door, according to Margerville state police.

The Deckers notified state police who set up a roadblock at Halcottville where, a short time later, they arrested Kenneth Deighton, 43, of Andes, an employee of Beatty's Farm, Kingston.

Deighton was arraigned before Justice of Peace Solie Darling of Fleischmanns on a charge of burglary third degree, waived examination and was committed to Delaware County Jail to await action of the grand jury.

Troopers said Deighton has a record as a tramp and petty burglar. Investigating were Cpl. Michael Lisman and Trooper P. R. Gillette.

Conner Funeral Home, Inc., Monday and Tuesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m., where funeral will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m. Burial will be in Montrose Cemetery.

Richard J. Jahn
The funeral of Richard J. Jahn, 11, who was fatally burned when his home was destroyed by fire Tuesday, was held Saturday at 9 a. m. from Hartley & Lamoree Funeral Home, 8 Second Street, Saugerties and at 9:30 from St. Patrick's Church, Quarryville where a requiem Mass was offered for the repose of his soul. The Rev. Daniel Daley, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, was the celebrant. The Rev. Charles P. Burke, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Saugerties and the assistant pastor, the Rev. John J. Maher were seated in the sanctuary. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Barclay Heights, Saugerties. Father Daley pronounced the final absolution, assisted by Father Burke. Bearers, all playmates of the boy were: Thomas Leaser, Robert Taggart, John Burke, John Carr, James Bishop and Richard Greco. During the bereavement hundreds of friends called at the funeral home. Friday evening Father Daley called and led those assembled in the recitation of the Rosary. Father Burke also called and offered prayers for the dead.

Joseph Wojciechowski
The funeral of Joseph F. (Teslo) Wojciechowski, who died Tuesday, was held from his late residence, 240 Third Avenue Saturday at 9 o'clock; thence to Immaculate Conception Church where a high mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul at 9:30 o'clock by the Rev. Joseph J. Sieczek. Responses to the Mass were sung by the children's choir assisted at the organ by Miss Theresa Gehring. While the body rested at the residence many relatives and friends called and numerous floral pieces and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards were received. Officers and employees of Hutton Company called and attended the Mass. Friday evening members of the Holy Name Society called at the home and were led in the recitation of the Holy Rosary by their spiritual director Father Sieczek. Burial was in Mt. Calvary Cemetery where Father Sieczek gave the final blessing. The bearers were: J. J. Conan, James Kennedy, John Buboltz, Thomas Turk, James MacCalline and John Heppner.

William S. Elliott
Funeral services for William S. Elliott of Katsbaan, who died Wednesday, were held from Hartley & Lamoree Funeral Home, 8 Second Street, Saugerties, on Sunday at 3 p. m. Largely attended services were conducted by the Rev. August Pfau Jr., pastor of Katsbaan Reformed Church. Burial was in Katsbaan Cemetery. Bearers were: Guy Baker, Peter Hornbeck, Wallace Wagon, Clarence Myers, Harold J. Longendyke and William MacFarland. Friday evening members of Ashbury Grange called in a group. Saturday evening members of Ulster Lodge, 193, F & AM called and conducted Masonic funeral services for their departed brother. Centerville Fire Company and Saxton Fire Company met at the funeral home and held services Saturday night. The Rev. Mr. Pfau, chaplain, conducted the services.

On Vacation
Wullen came to East Durham in July to vacation at the Joseph Beir Farm. On July 20, Beir notified Catskill state police that Wullen had entered a rough, wooded area along Catskill creek and had not returned.

Wullen's disappearance sparked an intensive search of the area by 30 state troopers and volunteers. At one time bloodhounds were used.

Dr. Curtiss Lacy, Greene County coroner, with held his verdict pending an autopsy. The body was removed to Cunningham Funeral Home, East Durham.

Large plantations of bulrushes are planned in Southwest Africa to provide a substitute for wood pulp in the manufacture of paper.

IMC HOLDS LADIES NIGHT—The Industrial Management Club of Kingston was addressed by Mayor Frederick H. Stang at its annual ladies night held Thursday at the Flamingo Restaurant, Saugerties. Johnny Knapp and his orchestra provided music for dancing. Seated from left to right are G. Robert Anderson, president; Mayor Stang; Marvin I. Millens, first vice-president; standing, Donald Osterhout, corresponding secretary; William Short, Ladies Night committee chairman; Victor Fletcher, director, and Louis H. Schafer, executive secretary. (Crosby photo).

To Use 'Brain' In Calculating End of Carrier

WASHINGTON (AP)—American scientists prepared today to feed new sighting data into an electronic brain in an effort to predict more accurately when Sputnik I's rocket carrier will fall.

Predictions during the weekend that the rocket's fall was imminent were not borne out. One British astronomer who had made such a prediction revised it Saturday night to say the rocket is expected to last for several days.

Last night, the rocket was sighted over the northeastern part of the United States. Dr. John White, a staff scientist at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass., said those sighting reports, along with others expected from other moonwatch teams elsewhere in the nation, would be used in a new computation of the rocket's present orbit.

Seen More Accurate
White said the new data, fed into an electronic brain at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, may permit a more accurate forecast of when the rocket will take its fatal plunge.

Some scientists have expressed a belief that Sputnik I, a 184-pound sphere, will stay on course for several weeks longer than its carrier rocket because the drag on it is much less than on the rocket.

Estimates are the rocket, now traveling closer to the earth than Sputnik I, has covered more than 20 million miles. The rocket carried the world's first earth satellite into orbit on Oct. 4. A second Soviet satellite was fired aloft Nov. 3 with a dog as a passenger. There has been no definite prediction when Sputnik II will drop.

Falling Faster
Some time ago, scientists at the Smithsonian Observatory predicted Sputnik I's rocket carrier would plunge downward to its destruction on or about Dec. 11. But Saturday night there were indications the rocket is falling faster than had been estimated.

Latest calculations show the rocket to be circling the earth about once every 90 minutes—six minutes faster than during its first few days aloft.

Weekend Developments
The weekend brought these other developments:

1. Dr. Joseph Kaplan, chairman of the U. S. Committee for the International Geophysical Year said his group has received no information from Russia on data obtained from the two satellites now speeding through space. However, Kaplan said "It is much too early to judge whether the U.S.S.R. or any other nation is not living up to its obligations to exchange information."

2. Dr. Hans K. Ziegler, a German-trained scientist, said at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., the United States could have launched a satellite last month if President Eisenhower had ordered it.

"We have the satellites, the rockets, the fuel and the know-how," said Ziegler, assistant research director at the U. S. Army

Shining Object Stirs Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—A report by a Swedish officer of a shining object traveling on a spiral course toward the moon was under examination at Sweden's defense headquarters today.

"The best guess so far seems to be it might have something to do with Russian satellite or missile experiments," a staff spokesman said.

"We know that it was no airplane, nor any meteorological balloon," he said, "and the Stockholm Observatory has told us it was no meteor."

He said the observation was made yesterday by a Swedish army captain at Kortedala near Goeborg, on the Swedish west coast.

"The captain reported he watched the object through his field glass for 20 minutes," the spokesman said.

"We are taking this report seriously since it came from a competent observer. All details are being forwarded today to the FOA (the scientific research institute of Sweden's armed forces.)"

"The captain described the object as a flattened sphere circling moonwards. Its sides were somewhat elongated and there was a flickering glow as from burning exhaust gases from one side."

Poster Girl Dead

Probe Prisoner's Death
NEW YORK (AP)—The New York City Department of Correction disclosed today that it was investigating the death of a 67-year-old prisoner while he was being transferred from the New Hampton Reformatory to Hart Island.

According to Anna M. Kross, commissioner of correction, the investigation of the death of Frank McCarthy, listed as homeless, is a "routine procedure of the department."

Hunters Walk Out Of Woods Unharmed

SCHROON LAKE (AP)—Three hunters missing in the Adirondacks since yesterday walked out of the woods today unharmed.

State police called off searchers for them.

John Tatrow, 30, and his brother, Clifford, 23, showed up in the Hudson River area around their home community of Newcomb in southern Essex County.

Criminal Contempt Conviction Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled 6-3 today that a witness's refusal to answer a series of related questions constitutes a single contempt.

The court so decided in upholding the criminal contempt conviction of Mrs. Oleta O'Connor Yates, a California Communist leader. The contempt charge followed her refusal to answer questions while on trial in 1952 with 13 others on Smith Act charges.

The questions dealt with Communist Party affiliation of her co-defendants.

All 14 were convicted of conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the government. But the Supreme Court last June threw out the convictions. It ordered acquittal for five of the group but left the way open for the government to re-try the remaining nine, including Mrs. Yates.

Mrs. Yates filed a separate appeal from her contempt conviction.

Government Gratitude

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—The German government has presented its Order of Merit to two world Christian leaders. Dr. W. A. Visser't Hooft, general secretary of the World Council of Churches, and Dr. Carl Lund-Quist, executive secretary of the Lutheran World Federation, for "all you and your organizations have done for us in Germany during our most difficult trials and greatest distress" of the post-war period.

OPTIMISTIC—Rear Adm. Wm. F. Raborn, director of the Polaris Project, the Navy's 1,500-mile, ship-based ballistic missile, told newsmen in Washington that the project is ahead of schedule. The original operations date for the missile was 1962, but now Navy officials believe they can beat this goal "appreciably." The Polaris will be for shipboard use only, including submarines. Raborn was in Washington to testify before a closed-door session of the House Appropriations Subcommittee.

Snow, Widespread Rain Reported

By The Associated Press

Snow fell in some northern areas and widespread rain hit sections of the south today but generally fair weather prevailed in other parts of the country.

It was cold in most of the northern half of the country from the Rockies to New England. The heaviest snow reported in 30 years fell in western and southern Texas over the weekend. The 14 inches which blanketed Concho County in lower west central Texas yesterday was a record fall.

Snow also fell at Laredo, on the Mexican border, the first in more than 10 years. Temperatures at Laredo usually one of the nation's hot spots, dropped to freezing. The frosty weather ruined the tomato crop in the Laredo area and nipped winter vegetables in the lush lower Rio Grande valley area at the southern tip of Texas.

You can stop faster and see better on safe CONCRETE STREETS

It's a dark, wet night. Your son is riding home on his bike. Suddenly he swerves into the path of an oncoming car. Can the driver stop? Yes, thanks to safe, tire-gripping concrete, he stops without skidding on the wet pavement. And you're mighty thankful that cars can stop faster on skid-resistant concrete!

Concrete streets also offer an extra measure of protection at night. That's because their light-colored surface reflects more light than other pavements. You can see farther and better at night on concrete streets. Remember, if you can't see, you can't be safe!

Concrete also lasts years longer, and costs much less to maintain than other pavements. It is the true low-annual-cost pavement.

Painter's Torch Blamed for Fire In Uptown Sector

Fire caused by a painter's torch caused considerable damage to a duplex dwelling at 143 Main Street late this morning.

The building was occupied by Robert Baylor and James Burns, the owner.

Deputy Chief George Matthews said a painting contractor was burning paint and the torch ignited the area between the siding and side walls at the sill on the outside of the Baylor apartment.

Fire, he said, travelled to the attic and it was necessary for firemen to open plaster on the walls of the inside lower hall, and asbestos-covered siding in a second-floor bedroom.

The Baylor apartment sustained considerable damage from fire and slight water damage, the deputy said. He reported the Baylor apartment "was pretty well charred with smoke."

The alarm was received by telephone at 11:25 a. m.

Engine 1 from Central Station, Engine 3 and Truck 2 from Wiltwyck Station, the Wiltwyck volunteer truck and A. H. Wicks Engine & Truck Co. salvage truck responded.

Refuses to Consider John Kasper Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to reconsider its October 14 denial of a hearing to John Kasper, the segregationist serving a year's jail sentence for a speech in Clinton, Tenn., in August, 1956.

Kasper was convicted that August on a charge of criminal contempt of an order by U.S. District Judge Robert L. Taylor in Knoxville, Tenn. The order banned interference with integration of Negro and white pupils in Clinton High School.

In appealing for a Supreme Court hearing, Kasper contended his right to freedom of speech had been violated by the contempt conviction. He also insisted his sentence was grossly excessive. After that appeal was denied Kasper was taken into custody Oct. 18.

Kasper is now serving the 12-month sentence, plus a 6-month sentence given him later on his conviction with six others on charges of conspiracy to commit contempt. The group of seven was convicted last July in Federal Court in Knoxville, in connection with the same order issued by Judge Taylor in the Clinton case.

Kasper is in the federal correctional institution at Tallahassee, Fla.

testimony. Ten of the 15 members of the Armed Services Committee were on hand.

Teller, bushy-browed and serious in mien, wore a brown business suit.

Should Be Informed

In his opening statement, Chairman Johnson said the subcommittee believes the people should be informed fully of the military situation which faces the United States.

Noting that subcommittee members had been briefed confidentially on developments, Johnson said:

"I have found no cause for comfort in the information we have been given. We do not feel that this information must be withheld from the public.

Lose Important Battle

"We have lost an important battle in technology to Russia. That is self-evident in the two Sputniks that are in space. But a lost battle is not a defeat, it is a challenge for America to respond with her best efforts.

"There were no Republicans and no Democrats after Pearl Harbor. There were no isolationists. There were no defeatists of any stripe.

"I do not feel that we have as much time as we had after Pearl Harbor. But we do have time, determination and willpower to accomplish what we must. I don't believe it is time for either a siesta or for hysteria."

Nation Disturbed

Johnson went on to say the country is "disturbed over the tremendous military and scientific achievement of Russia."

"Our people have believed that in the field of scientific weapons and in technology and science we were well ahead of Russia," Johnson said. "With the launching of Sputnik one and two, and with the information at hand of Russia's strength, our supremacy, and even our equality, has been challenged. There has been a loss of confidence."

Not Final Judgment

"We must meet this challenge quickly and effectively in all of its aspects."

Johnson said it appeared "we have slipped dangerously behind the Soviet Union in some very important fields."

"But the committee is not rendering any final judgment in advance of the evidence on why we slipped or what should be done about it," he continued. "Our goal is to find out what is to be done. We will not reach that goal by wandering up any blind alleys of partisanship."

Teller told a television audience yesterday (CBS-See It Now) the United States has lagged behind Russia in science and thus has lost "a battle more important and greater than Pearl Harbor."

He did not directly speak of missiles in the general discussion program, but said this country is in a "very sad and dangerous" situation now and that rebuilding U. S. prestige in science "will be a long and hard struggle." He called among other things for more recognition for scientists. Teller was to be followed to the stand by Dr. Vannevar Bush, who headed American scientific development work in World War II.

Bush has said the only way to catch up with Russia is to unify military planning and development of missiles and satellites.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels and cop-pers were off but oils made some gains in a generally lower stock market early this afternoon.

Key stocks showed losses running from fractions to around a point. Oils and selected issues made gains running to as much as 2 points or so.

The opening was brisk and prices irregular. The pattern remained mixed in early trading but gradually a number of losers outnumbered the gainers. A tendency toward improvement was apparent in the afternoon. Trading was moderate.

A further drop in incoming orders was reported in the steel industry for the Thanksgiving week. Lower world copper prices were said to be exerting pressure on the domestic price.

While economic reports were mixed, the important indices were interpreted as showing a mild recession with overall economic activity remaining close to the highs of recent prosperous years.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem, off around a point earlier, cut their losses about in half. Youngstown Sheet remained about a point lower. Lukens was up slightly.

Kennecott erased a loss and moved fractionally to the upside. Anaconda continued to trade lower but American Smelting went to the plus side. International Nickel was off a point.

Martin Co. dropped around 2 points as it paid its usual quarterly dividend. A company spokesman said a stock dividend, such as the 5 per cent payment of a year ago, was not in order.

Seeks Injunction Against Dry-Cleaners

ALBANY (AP)—Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz moved today to restrain 10 dry-cleaning establishments in Ithaca from conspiring to fix prices.

Lefkowitz applied for a temporary injunction in state supreme court in Tompkins County against the 10 cleaners, members of the Ithaca Dry Cleaning Assn. plants.

The attorney general declared in a statement that the association was "nothing more than a fictitious name adopted in an attempt to dignify and establish a framework for the price-fixing scheme."

He said the 10 cleaners had published an advertisement setting forth a schedule of minimum prices for cleaning eight items of clothing.

Cut Costs, Not Up Tax, Says GOP

ALBANY (AP)—The Republican state chairman today advised Gov. Harriman to slash state spending instead of increasing state income taxes.

"In fact," said L. Judson Morhouse, "I think we ought to think about cutting taxes even further—not talk about raising them."

Morhouse's comment came after Harriman declared in New York City yesterday that he could not promise to continue the 40-million-dollar tax easement that the state has allowed the last two years.

It is "too early to tell," the Democratic governor said in a television interview ("Citizens Union Searchlight," WRCA-TV), and in talking later with reporters.

State spending for the current fiscal year has been estimated at $1,616,000,000. Fiscal sources in the administration have indicated that the budget for the next fiscal year will approach $1,750,000,000.

Morhouse told the Associated Press that the state's GOP leadership intended to "hold the line on taxes, if it possibly can, without cutting essential services."

The tenor of his remarks indicated there might be a fight over taxes in the 1958 election-year session of the Republican-controlled Legislature.

There was no comment immediately from the legislative leaders. However, a spokesman for Senate majority leader Walter J. Mahoney pointed out that GOP senators at a caucus last month had pledged to hold the line on taxes and spending.

"As far as I'm concerned," Morhouse said, "if the abatement is ended, that's a tax increase and this isn't the time to raise state taxes."

The GOP chairman asserted that federal spending might have to be raised in order to meet the challenge of Soviet Russia in missile development.

"If that's the case," he continued, "then state governments ought to try their utmost to cut their tax levels. We ought to think about cutting our taxes, even below current levels."

Reanimation May Be Halted, Pope Tells Doctors

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII says a doctor may halt artificial respiration and other methods of reanimation in certain cases if the patient's family desires.

The pontiff spoke yesterday to several hundred doctors and anesthetists at an audience in Consistory Hall.

The Pope said the family might feel that an attempt at reanimation "constitutes for the family a burden which in conscience they cannot accept."

This would not be euthanasia, or mercy killing, "which would never be legitimate," the Pope said.

He said he was answering questions asked by Dr. Bruno Haid, chief of the anesthesia section of the surgical clinic of the University of Innsbruck, Austria.

"The technique of reanimation is not in itself immoral because of authorization," the Pope said. "On the other hand, since this form of treatment goes beyond ordinary methods, one cannot maintain that it would be obligatory."

"Although a cessation of circulation of the blood is caused, the ceasing of the attempt at reanimation is only indirectly a cause of the cessation of life."

Safety Depends On Bomber Forces Says Twining

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining told NATO scientists today that the safety of the free world depends on the maintenance of manned bomber forces until ballistic missile weapons can be perfected.

"The problem of maintaining technological superiority" in the face of recent Russian technical advances, the chairman of the joint chiefs of staff said, is one "for the entire community of free nations."

Twining said development of intermediate and intercontinental missiles is proceeding under "the highest national priority," but he added:

"Meanwhile, we cannot discard systems of known capability for those not yet in operational readiness. In effect we must travel two roads simultaneously."

Twining made the remarks in an address before the North Atlantic Treaty Organization advisory group for aeronautical research and development.

TIGHT MONEY

Many prominent corporations are saddled with noncallable preferred stocks. And just now, tax selling and tight money have forced prices down to the most attractive levels in years.

Bethlehem Steel, International Harvester, National Biscuit and United States Steel are four ranking enterprises having outstanding good quality, $7 a share year preferred stocks. United States Rubber has an $8 preferred.

When money is cheap, these stocks sell high, reflecting money market conditions. Thus, in 1955, the preferreds of these respective companies sold as follows: Bethlehem $172; Harvester $175; Biscuit $183; U. S. Steel $168; U. S. Rubber $172.

Today all of them are down from $30 to $40 a share. The impact of tight money is dramatically illustrated by these falling prices.

Are dividends in question? Decidedly no! For the five-year period from 1932 through 1956, Bethlehem Steel earned its preferred dividend 21 times, National Biscuit 11 times, and United States Steel 10 times, International Harvester 9 times, and United States Rubber 6 times.

Money market conditions can change rapidly. Congress will be meeting early in 1958. Tight money will be a controversial issue next year. Looking ahead only 90 days, I can see that political forces will be an important factor in this "tight-cheap" money debate. And cheap money will win out.

Lower interest rates next year could reverse the present falling noncallable preferred stock prices. It is in such times as these that private investors, trustees, and other fiduciary managers desiring to get into securities paying around 5 per cent in perpetuity should move.

A trustee board with $50,000 in hand from maturing high-grade, low-yielding bonds can double present income by taking on a diversification of these stocks. In recent years the board has had constant concern with cheap money. That is why its members have bought low-yielding, short-term bonds and notes.

A pension fund that functions best when an over-all yearly yield of 4 per cent is earned might well buy most of these stocks before the end of 1957.

A widow with $15,000 upon which she receives $450 a year in interest can increase her income to $750 annually by following suit.

Six months from now—around the end of May, 1958—I shall review money market conditions again.

When investors for the long pull can put their money to work (as they can now) at a relatively high yield, they should do so. Tight money can be an economic blessing to hundreds of organizations and to millions of investors.

Promotion Reported For Marshal Grechko

BERLIN (AP)—Marshal Andrei Grechko, commander of Soviet forces in East Germany, today was reported under orders to go to Moscow to become deputy defense minister.

A promotion for Grechko at present would surprise many western observers, since in the past he has been identified with ousted Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

Eisenhower Will See Propulsion Research Results

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will get a look at "some very significant results" of missile propulsion research when he visits Cleveland tomorrow, the White House said today.

The President is flying to Cleveland for a nationwide television-radio address tomorrow night on national security. The speech will be the third in Eisenhower's chins up series.

Anne Wheaton, associate White House press secretary, announced that after the speech from Cleveland, Eisenhower will visit a research laboratory at the airport before returning to Washington.

At the airport Eisenhower will be greeted by representatives of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, and by government research scientists working on problems dealing with propulsion of aircraft and missiles.

"The President will see some very significant research results in high energy exotic fuels, rocket propulsion and new types of engines," Mrs. Wheaton said.

Hall Is Held For Grand Jury

Gordon Raymond Hall, 31, of 40 Liberty Street, arrested Nov. 21 on a second degree grand larceny charge involving the alleged theft of a car from a local garage lot, was held for grand jury action after a preliminary hearing in city court today before Assistant City Judge Harry Gold.

Hall is charged with taking a car from the Fatum garage lot, O'Neil Street, Nov. 3, and selling it at Selkirk. He was arrested last Thursday by Detective Clarence Brophy and Officer Ernest Bartroff.

Police said Hall had been held on a traffic charge in Albany and he was picked up at the Albany county jail.

The 1953 Plymouth sedan, allegedly taken from the O'Neil Street lot by Hall, valued at $500, was sold by Hall in Selkirk for $5, police said.

Hall, who was remanded to the Ulster County jail after today's hearing, was represented by Attorney Thomas Saccoman. Attorney William D. Brinnier appeared for the district attorney's office.

Driver Uninjured In Truck Mishap

The driver of a 1954 dump truck escaped injury Saturday afternoon when he struck a building on West Union Street after the truck overturned when he attempted to turn off Broadway and slow the truck after a brake failure, police reported.

Officers Anthony Turck and James Amato reported at 4:16 p. m. that Bernard Weber, 44, of Walton Lane, RD 4, Box 208, Kingston, was driving the dump truck, owned by Michael J. Perry, of RD 1, Box 34, Catskill, south on Broadway.

Police said Weber was making a right turn from Broadway into West Union Street in an effort to slow the truck going downhill. It was reported the truck overturned, struck and damaged a building at 4 West Union Street, owned by Mrs. Esther Ginsburg.

The officers reported the truck was carrying a front end loader at the time of the mishap.

mately seven years in two different schools, Dr. Morse said.

Mr. Jones holds a master of science education degree from Cornell University. He has taught in the local school system for the past two and a half years.

James Toolan holds the BA degree from the New York University and has done graduate work. He has taught for approximately four years.

Donald Muller holds the BA degree from Wagner College. He has done graduate work. He has taught for approximately two years.

Plan Enriched Program

Beginning next September, Saugerties High School plans to offer an enriched program in science for its more outstanding students in that field. Pupils who have a special interest in science who intend to study it after graduating from high school, and who are selected on the basis of standardized tests, will be admitted to the study of general biology beginning in the ninth grade; they will study physics in the 10th grade; chemistry in the 11th grade; and pursue a survey course in college science in the 12th grade.

Pupils who are not now attending the Saugerties Central Schools System, but who intend to enter the ninth grade of Saugerties High School next fall will have an opportunity to take the standardized tests in science to determine their eligibility for this specialized program.

Dr. Morse described mathematics as "the foundation of a good part of any science program, and essential to advanced study in science."

All seventh and eighth grade students study mathematics, he said, and listed the following classification of study:

Ninth grade—93 pupils study elementary algebra; 10th grade—76 students study plane geometry, 41 intermediate algebra, 25 advanced algebra, six solid geometry and 26 are registered to study trigonometry during the second half of the school year, while five are registered to study calculus.

Dr. Morse said, during the second school semester, the prospective enrollment in solid geometry and calculus are smaller "than usual" since some of the present seniors studied these courses last year. Fifty-two students, he said, are studying commercial arithmetic.

Of the 505 high school pupils enrolled in grades nine through 12, 323 are currently pursuing mathematics, approximately 64 per cent.

The head of the mathematics department is Miss N. Leona Hogan, who holds an AB degree from Mt. Holyoke College and a master's degree from New York University. She has been head of the Mathematics Section of the Eastern Zone of New York State, has marked mathematics papers in the state department for several summers, and has taught in the Saugerties system since 1933.

Other senior high school mathematics is taught by Mrs. Margaret N. Shaffer who holds the AB degree from Adelphi College and the master's degree from the New York State College for Teachers in Albany. In addition to her teaching experience, she has had six years of industrial training as a circuit lay out engineering assistant for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in New York City.

The major portion of the mathematics in the seventh and eighth grades is taught by Mr. Toolan and Mr. Muller.

In addition to the mathematical studies listed above, some mathematics is taught in the Introduction to Business course which is pursued by all ninth grade pupils who do not study elementary algebra. Some practical mathematics is required of all boys pursuing industrial arts courses, Mr. Morse explained.

Kennedy Boomed For President

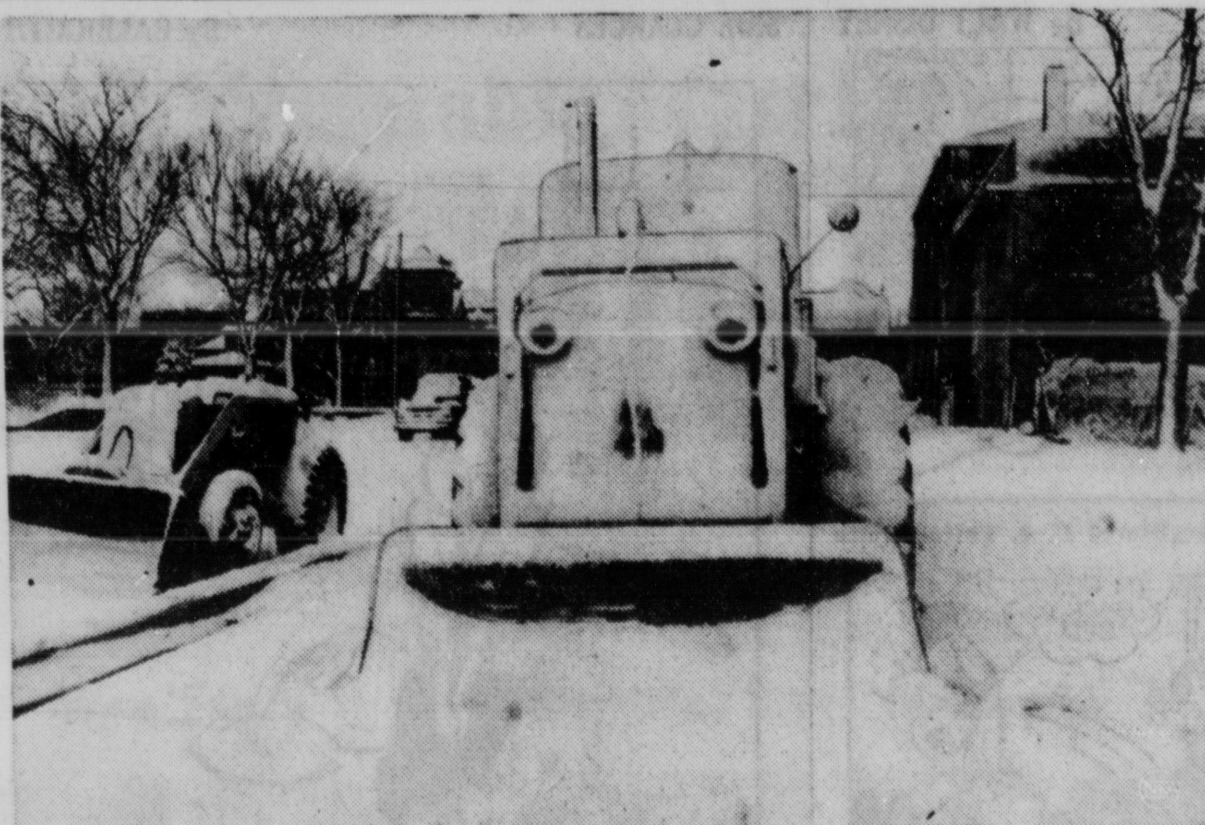

BOSTON (AP)—Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) was boomed for president at an Italian-American gathering last night with Gov. Dennis J. Roberts (D) of Rhode Island declaring "I will help nominate him at the 1960 convention."

Boston Mayor John F. Hynes declared "In 1960 we shall greet you as President John F. Kennedy," Joseph A. Salerno, regional director of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, said: "Let us start here tonight to place Senator John F. Kennedy in the White House in 1960."

Two Shot by Own Guns In Weekend Accidents

Two minor hunting accidents were reported in Ulster County during the weekend—both caused by mishaps to men whose own guns wounded them.

In one case the bullet of a small caliber automatic pistol lodged in a hand, in the other a rifle bullet passed through the calf of a Kingston man's leg.

The two were John Edward Creed, 45, of College Point, and Arthur Homes, 20, of 8 Pine Street.

Both were reported in good condition at local hospitals.

Shot by Automatic
Creed shot himself in the left hand shortly before noon Saturday in the town of Shandaken. The bullet, discharged from a .25 caliber Browning automatic pistol owned by his son, Walter J. Creed, 25, of the same address, lodged in his left hand.

He was taken to Benedictine Hospital where he was treated. On Sunday the bullet was removed.

Son Held for Jury
His son was arrested by Kingston state police on a charge of illegal possession of a firearm. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Millard Davis of the town of Ulster, waived examination and was held for the grand jury.

The arrest was made by Trooper Charles Teelon, BCI.

The accident occurred in Catskill Park, it was reported.

Fall Discharges Gun
Young Holmes was injured

when he slipped and fell, his 30-30 rifle striking the ground and discharging. The bullet passed through the calf of his right leg.

The mishap occurred about 12:20 p. m. Sunday on the Hurley Mountain road near Kingston.

Deputy Sheriff Ernest Longyear of the Ulster county sheriff's was dispatched to the scene after the office received a call from Mrs. Jay Every reporting the accident.

Holmes was hunting at the time with a younger brother, 13, and a friend.

Undersheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg said that the three youths camped Saturday night near the old fire tower on Hurley Mountain. The mishap occurred while they were hunting the following day.

The youth was brought out of the woods by Reginald Russell, principal of the Chambers School, town of Ulster, and three other men, all of Hurley—Robert L. Miller, Wayne and Joseph Gilbert.

Rifton Driver Hits Pole; Tied To Other Mishap

A car which struck a pole at Flatbush Avenue and East Chester Street on Sunday evening apparently was involved in a mishap a few minutes earlier at the Flatbush Avenue crossing of the West Shore Railroad, police reported.

Officers George Dougherty and George Deyo reported at 9:35 p. m. that a 1947 coupe, owned by Charles Guida, of Ulster Park, and operated by Alphonse Guida, 20, of Route 213, Rifton, struck a utility pole owned by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., at Flatbush Avenue and East Chester Street.

Headed East
Police said the car was headed east on Flatbush Avenue, and the right rear fender torn off, the entire right side scraped, and the right front windshield broken.

It also was reported that the lawn in front of 349 Flatbush Avenue, and the lawn and four iron rails in front of 339 Flatbush Avenue, were damaged. Both properties are owned by Louis Bruno, the report added.

Police received a report at 9:45 p. m. of a car "running through the gates" of the Flatbush Avenue railroad crossing.

A blotter notation said a gate-man, William Koeppen, of 15 Prospect Street, had identified the car as the same one involved in the East Chester Street accident and the windshield was broken "due to contact with the gates." The car was headed east on Flatbush Avenue, a railroad spokesman reported.

To Check
were released after questioning. City police have been seeking all New Yorkers involved in the meeting. So far they have questioned eight. Several more still are sought.

There has been speculation that the Apalachin meeting was called to apportion the racket legacy of Albert Anastasia, once the executioner for the old Murder Inc. Anastasia was shot to death in a New York hotel barbershop last month.

In Elizabeth, N. J., a probation violation hearing opened today for Frank Majuri, convicted Elizabeth bookmaker, who attended the convention.

Gannett Condition Reported Worse
ROCHESTER (AP)—The condition of Frank Gannett, 81, founder and president-emeritus of the Gannett group of newspapers, radio and television stations, took a turn for the worse today.

He has been under medical care since being injured in a fall in his home here in April 1955. Gannett has undergone treatment at Highland Hospital on several occasions since the fall, in which he suffered a fractured vertebrae, among other injuries.

He is under treatment at his home.

Two generations ago an indignant Bostonian rushed to Dr. Edward Everett's house. One of the local papers had published an article criticizing this man, and he was beside himself with rage. Should he demand a public apology or file a suit for damages? Dr. Everett listened quietly, then interrupted: "What should you do? My dear sir, do nothing! Half the people who read that paper never saw that article. Half of those who did see it failed to read it. Half of those who read it did not understand it. Half of those who believed it were people of no consequence any way."

"I'm not really late, boss," said the tardy file clerk. "I just took my coffee break before coming in."

Two Western men traveled together two days in a train without a word ever passing between them. On the third day one of them at length ventured to remark that it was a fine morning.

"And who said it wasn't?" was the reply.

Bank Teller (politely)—What is your name, sir?

Indignant Patron—Don't you see my signature?

Teller—Yes, sir. That's what aroused by curiosity.

Agnes—You say he's a bore? Bess—A bore? Everytime he opens his mouth he puts his feet in it.

Johnny's mother was obsessed with the idea of cleanliness. In spite of the very freshest baths to which he was subjected, the boy thrived. One day a friend commented upon his rapid growth. "Oh, yes," said Johnny, "it's mother's fault. She waters me too much."

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
THE PRODIGAL UNCLE

The prodigal son had a heck of a time while it lasted. Then came Uncle.

After years of peak prosperity, record taxes, income, spending and debt, we have—

U. S. Government Bonds selling as low as 87 1/2%—

Government debt up to the ceiling—

Uncle squirming around the debt limit by having subsidiaries, like "Fanny May" (Federal National Mortgage Association), borrow instead of the Treasury—

Uncle paying his bills by instalments and making his creditors wait—

Uncle forced to pay 4% to get his debts refunded—

Social Security now paying out more than it is taking in—

Uncle, last January, proposing 14 new and additional spending programs, including Federal aid to schools—

Uncle's dollar losing value—

Uncle's nephews and nieces going deeper and deeper into debt.

And now come Sputniks and the intercontinental ballistics missile. More billions!

But nothing laid aside for a rainy day! The prodigal Uncle is coming home. But where is the fatted calf?

Profit margins sinking. Losses mounting on the Stock Exchange. Labor unions demanding more.

And no cushion. No nestegg. No factor of safety in our frenzied Federal finance. Welfare for all!

It was quite a binge. New Year's Eve all the year round! For years I've repeated, "Stop going into debt!"

But, neighbor, don't sell Uncle short, even if he's acted foolishly! All he needs is to take Ben Franklin's tonic thrice daily.

Your turkey will taste better with CHIP STUFFING!

Crumble potato chips and place in large bowl. Remove crusts from bread and dice in 1/2 inch cubes. Place bread in mixing bowl. Brown mushrooms lightly in butter. Add celery and onions and cook for 2 minutes longer. Add salt, pepper, and sage to mushroom mixture and blend well. Combine mushroom mixture with chips and bread and mix well. Salt inside of chicken or turkey and then fill with stuffing. Makes 1/2 cups stuffing or enough for a 5-pound chicken. For an 18-pound turkey, triple the recipe.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The fast stepping vending industry has even bigger plans on the drawing boards today.

A machine that brews coffee inside its vacuum can and dispenses a cup made by what the manufacturer calls home methods has just been shown the trade.

Engineers are working on a single machine which will serve a full meal, bringing the food from freezing storage temperature to eating temperature in less than a minute. They say this one — to serve hot food on a plastic tray along with cold salads and desserts — may be two or three years away. Cooking speed is the chief unlicked problem.

Batteries of food vending machines alongside gasoline pumps at the service station, as well as machines selling groceries in the parking lots, are in the pilot stage. So is a machine that can take a $1 bill and make change—rejecting counterfeiters. The Vendo Co. of Kansas City is trying to develop one that can distinguish between

Sales Risen
Industry spokesmen say vending sales have risen to about two billion dollars this year from 30 million dollars in 1925. Today there are an estimated three million machines in use, tended by 5,500 operators.

Vending machines in factories, the enthusiasts say, will make the lunch box and plant cafeteria obsolete. The National Automatic Merchandising Assn. says one out of every five manufacturing plants are using them today.

The association names as examples of plants changing over to machines for in-plant feeding: The Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph, Denver; the Kansas City Power & Light; and the RCA Victor TV Division plant in Bloomington, Ind.

An automated cafeteria of the North Electric Co. in Galion, Ohio, uses 10 vending machines to serve 33 selections of food and beverages, available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Menus In Advance

Menus are planned a week in advance. They offer choice of three hot and cold sandwiches, three hot main courses, three hot soups, three chilled salads, three ice creams, five pastries, five pies, six cold drinks and three hot.

An apartment house in Minneapolis has machines where tenants can buy milk, bread, eggs, meat, vegetables and butter without going to the store.

The Grand Union store in East Paterson, N. J., on the other hand, has a pilot operation of outdoor vending. Eleven machines offer 58 items to belated or hurried customers.

At the National Automatic Merchandising Convention in Philadelphia, Vendo showed its coffee machine.

Two pairs of metal tongs pick up a tin of coffee, perforating either side. Through one set of tongs hot water is injected into the can. The brewed coffee is drained off through the other tongs and into a heated reservoir. The can with the used grounds is disposed of automatically.

Process Repeated

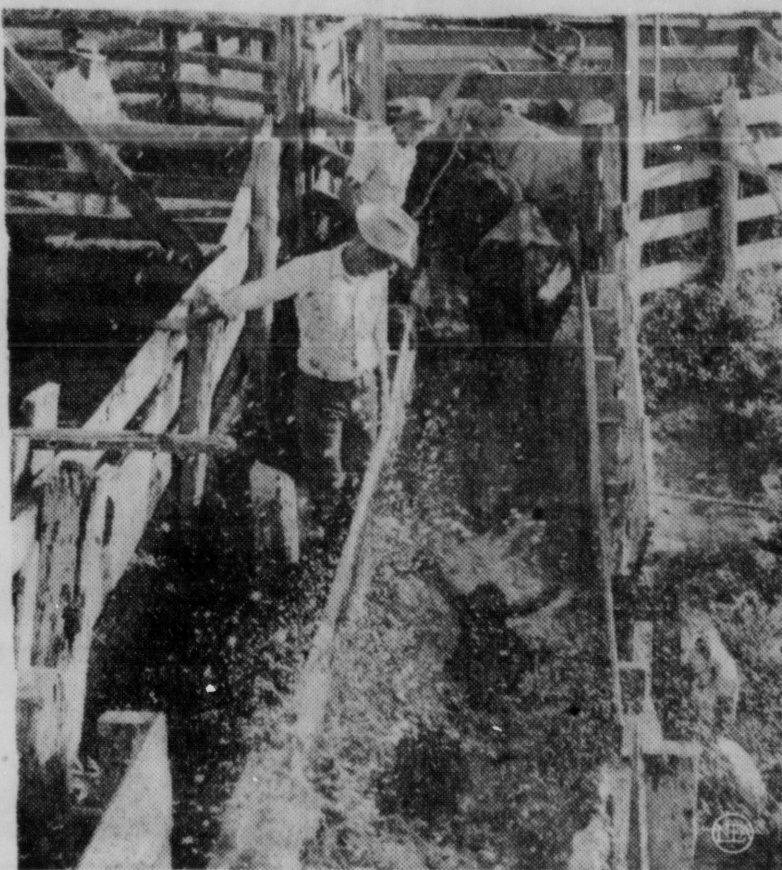

When the brew supply gets low, the process is repeated. The company says that any unsold coffee after three hours is automatically drained off.

Tackling the bill changing problem, engineers first used a device involving photographing the proffered bill to determine its denomination. The government said nothing doing. Now the Vendo people are working on a machine that fluoroscopes bills for their sulphite content, which it says varies from denomination to denomination.

While you're waiting for that one, here are some things you can do. A man with a hangover in San Antonio can put a dime in the slot and get a whiff of oxygen. A Chicago hotel lets you put a quarter in a slot and start an undulating motion in the mattress which gently rocks you to sleep.

Sliced Whale

YARMOUTH, N. S. (AP)—The motor vessel Bluenose was on time on her run from Bar Harbor, Maine, despite the "bump" near the Lurcner Lightship. A large whale trying to surface in the ship's path was sliced up by the propellers.

FIGHTING THE FEVER TICK—The cattle fever tick, found in Florida this year for the first time since the Federal quarantine was lifted in 1950, is a potential carrier of piropilosis, a destructive blood disease of cattle. Heavily infested animals waste away and become unprofitable. The infested cattle are dipped (above) in approved concentration of chemical to kill ticks. Fifty to 100 cattle can be treated per hour in a 2,000-gallon vat. Ticks remaining in pasture and reinfesting animals are killed by subsequent dippings.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Going once more through Washington Irving's "Old Christmas" story in a little soft leather bound book in which he covers his visit in England.

I notice that they use term "Yule clog" for the great log of wood. This from Irving's story: "The grate had been removed from the wide over-whelming fireplace to make way for a fire of wood, in the midst of which was an enormous log glowing and blazing, and sending forth a vast volume of light and heat; this, I understood, was the Yule clog, which the squire was particular in having brought in and illumined on a Christmas Eve, according to ancient custom."

In the foot-notes following: "The Yule clog is a great log of wood, sometimes the root of a tree, brought into the house with great ceremony on Christmas Eve, laid in the fireplace, and lighted with the brand of last year's clog. While it lasted there was great drinking, singing, telling of tales. Sometimes it was accompanied by Christmas candles; but in the cottages the only light was from the ruddy blaze of the great wood fire. The Yule clog was to burn all night; if it went out, it was considered a sign of ill luck. The Yule clog is still burnt in many farm-houses and kitchens in England, particularly in the north, and there are several superstitions connected with it among the peasantry. If a house while it is burning, or a barefooted person, it is considered an ill omen. The brand remaining from the Yule clog is carefully put away to light the next year's Christmas fire."

This 1896 edition of Washington Irving "Old Christmas" further explains in the foot-notes: "An English gentleman, at the opening of the great day, that is, Christmas Day, in the morning, had all his tenants and neighbors enter his hall by daybreak. The strong beer was broached, and the black-jacks went plentifully about, with toast, sugar and nutmeg, and good Cheshire cheese. The Hackin (the great sausage) must be boiled by daybreak to be done, no doubt."

Then he describes the important meal in the evening: "There was now a pause, as if something was expected, when suddenly the butler entered the hall with some degree of bustle; he was attended by a servant on each side with a large wax-light, and bore a silver dish on which was an enormous pig's head decorated with rosemary."

read in part: "The peacock was anciently in great demand for stately entertainments. Sometimes it was made into pie, at one end of which the head appeared above the crust in all its plumage, with the beak richly gilt; at the other end the tail was displayed. Such pies were served up at the solemn banquets of chivalry, when knights-errant pledged themselves to undertake a perilous enterprise."

End of an Era

GENESEE DEPOT, Wis. (AP)—The tiny community of Genesee Depot, once one of the country's busiest railroad shipping centers for farm products, may have to change at least part of its name. The Milwaukee Road has closed the depot and put the building up for sale.

"MONEY-AHEAD" CONTEST

Fantastic? It's mighty near unbelievable! But true — just read this:

You can win $500 a month for the rest of your life. You can win a gleaming new "Money-Ahead" '58 Plymouth. You can win other valuable prizes.

It's the Plymouth "Money-Ahead" Contest, where a lifetime of financial security is ripe for the taking. Few things are more substantial than money, and a lot of money is the grand prize. But this is a contest where you can win big without hauling down first prize . . . for 18 sparkling new Plymouths and 450 other valuable prizes will be awarded.

Now here's what you do:

Go into your Plymouth Dealer's and ask him for a contest blank. You don't have to be a mental giant to shoot for the big money. This contest is fun, and it's easy.

You simply unscramble seven easy words and terms, like the one you see in the example to the right. Then add your own short version of why you'd be money ahead in a '58 Plymouth. Believe us, there are plenty of good reasons you can use: Torsion-Aire, Total-Contact Brakes, Silver Dart Style, Push-Button Driving, new Golden Commando engines, etc.

Unscramble or scramble — but you better not amble — to your Plymouth Dealer soon. The fun starts Monday, Nov. 25.

Questions -- Answers

Q—How frequently are major crimes committed in this country?
A—The FBI reports that a major crime was committed every 12.2 seconds in the United States during 1956.
Q—What is the Portland vase?
A—It is one of the most famous ancient vases found near Rome in the 1600's. It was bought by the Dutchess of Portland and lent to the British Museum. In 1845 an insane visitor smashed it but the fragments were so skillfully united the damage can hardly be seen.

Q—How does the water content of snow compare with that of rain?
A—Snow has much less. It takes a snowfall of about 10 inches to equal a rainfall of one inch.

Q—What was the most important work of Asa Gray?
A—His manual of botany. It is the handbook of American botanists even today.
Q—Who was the first British Queen to have the title of Empress of India?
A—Queen Victoria.

Health for All

TO GIVE THANKS
With this week we begin the happiest season of the year. It's a time for festivity, yet there is serious meaning beneath it. Beginning with Thanksgiving, through Chanukkah, Christmas, and New Year's Day, there is a feeling of grateful rejoicing and rededication to our highest ideals. We show this feeling by our observance of holiday traditions.
One of these traditions is the Christmas Seals we buy as our contribution to the fight against tuberculosis. We buy them in a spirit of thankfulness for the great progress that has been made against TB, and also in the spirit of dedication to the eventual defeat of this disease. Fifty years ago when the first Christmas Seals were sold, it seemed almost impossible that TB could ever be defeated. The little money that was raised seemed like a drop in the bucket compared with the terrible cost of the disease not only in money, but in human suffering and lives lost.
The first Seals were sold with the aim of raising money to keep one small TB hospital going through the winter. Today Christmas Seals are sold to finance a nationwide program of education, case findings, rehabilitation, and research. We know that TB can be controlled, not in the immediate future, of course. But we foresee the end if the control program is carried out to the fullest.
Only one thing can defeat this purpose — self-satisfaction with the progress achieved so far. We cannot relax our efforts with success in sight. No home is safe from TB until all are safe.

YMCA Directors Hear Progress Building Report

Considerable progress has been made by the building and renovating committee of the YMCA, according to General Secretary Louis H. Schafer's report at the board of directors meeting Friday night at the YMCA.

In the absence of Chairman Elmer Rylance of the building committee, Schafer reported on the number of rooms renovated, painted and new furnishings and new window curtains added during 1957. Seven rooms were renovated and outfitted. The youth center will be finished the first week in December, he said.

Need Revision

President G. Herbert DeKay mentioned that the Constitution and By-laws of the association should be revised and new articles added. A committee will be selected along with the general secretary to revise both and bring them to a later meeting for discussion.

The laymen's conference in Newburgh Sunday, Dec. 8 was announced by Secretary Schafer. Although the conference will be held in Newburgh, the Kingston Association will be responsible for the planning and promotion, he said. Clarence Rowland Jr. is chairman and is being assisted by Rylance, a local board member who is also a member of the National Council of the YMCA's of North America, and Secretary Schafer.

About eight local board members with their wives will attend from Kingston. The speaker at the evening meal will be Lawrence E. D. Applin, who has just returned from Europe, where he has served the YMCA in the foreign field for eight years. Applin has worked in Prague, Czechoslovakia, with his last assignment being in the Beirut YMCA in Lebanon.

Junior Marrieds Make Yule Plans

Junior Married Women's Club met Thursday, Nov. 21, at the YMCA. The guest speaker was Dr. Hamilton Boyd.

During the business meeting Mrs. Robert Sickler, president, announced that the new entertainment committee chairman would be Mrs. Allan Nissen. Mrs. Nissen and Mrs. George Moore, program committee chairmen, are making plans for the December 5 meeting which will be in the nature of a surprise party for members.

Mrs. C. Allan Kent gave a report relative to the hanging of the greens at the YWCA which will be held this year on December 15 beginning at 1 p. m.

Hostesses for the evening were the Mes. Edward Gardner, George Moore, Norman Burnhardt, Dominick Castaldo, Richard Chatham, Donald Herdman, Fred Kahrs and Kevin Scherer.

NOVELTY ACT FOR BALL—The Palermo Brothers, a European novelty act specializing in juggling, also will appear at the 21st annual stage show and ball of Congregation Ahavath Israel Wednesday night, Thanksgiving Eve, at municipal auditorium.

European Act Is Added to Ahavath Israel Ball Show

A European novelty act, specializing in juggling, has been added to the array of entertainment stars which will grace the bill for the 21st annual Thanksgiving Eve ball of Congregation Ahavath Israel Wednesday night at municipal auditorium.

The new act is the Palermo Brothers, who recently appeared on Ed Sullivan's Show over CBS-TV and who were given outstanding plaudits following their performances at the Tropicanna in Miami Beach, Fla.

Other stars appearing at this week's annual pre-holiday event include:

Xavier Cugat and his world-famous orchestra.

George De Witt, master of ceremonies of CBS Television's Tuesday night show "Name That Tune."

The Three Galanes, sensational dancing stars from Cuba.

The lovely Jaye Sisters, famous Decca recording stars.

Chairman of this year's ball is Benjamin Schechter. Herman G. Rafalowsky, honorary chairman, has again arranged for the talent through the Music Corporation of America.

Doors to the auditorium will open Wednesday at 7 p. m. The show will start at 9 p. m. following a brief concert by Xavier Cugat's orchestra. Dancing will follow the entertainment acts until 1 a. m.

Miss Jean M. Thomas Is Engaged to Wed

JEAN MARIE THOMAS
(Freni Photo)

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Thomas Sr., 101 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean Marie to Sheldon G. Martin, Ulster Park, son of Mrs. Mabel J. Martin of New York City and the late William C. Martin.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Poughkeepsie High School, and is employed in the Military Products Division at IBM, Kingston.

Mr. Martin is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by Hercules Powder Company, Port Ewen.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Mayer - McGowan Wedding Announced

Miss Helen E. Mayer, daughter of Mrs. Charles Mayer of 61 Elmendorf Street, and the late Mr. Mayer, became the bride of Francis J. McGowan of 507 Broadway, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael McGowan, on Saturday, Nov. 16, at 11 a. m. in St. Peter's Church.

The Rev. William V. Reynolds officiated at the ceremony.

Miss Nan Goldrick was at the organ. Mrs. Robert Scherter was the soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother. She wore a romance blue satin gown in sheath style with a scoop neckline, three quarter length sleeves and a mezzanine length skirt with a double tulle overskirt. A halo hat of ostrich feathers with a circular tulle veil completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Gerard Flynn, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a gown which was identical in style to that worn by the bride except in a different shade of blue. Both the bride and her honor attendant carried silver lame muffs trimmed with pink cymbidiums and ribbon.

Gerard Flynn, brother-in-law of the bride, was the best man. Ushers included Vincent Bradley Jr. and Gus Gimboldi of West Park.

A reception was held at Aiello's Restaurant immediately following the church ceremony.

The bride is an employee of Electrol Inc. Her husband is employed by the Fuller Shirt Company.

After a wedding trip, the couple will make their home at 61 Elmendorf Street.

APARTMENT HOUSE NOISES

Dear Mrs. Post: I think the tenants overhead must be raising future Olympic champions in jumping. We really can't stand the loss of several hours' sleep in the morning. But how, in your opinion, is the best way to register a complaint? We asked our superintendent to tell them, but he refused saying that he can't take sides with any of us. He has, however, confirmed what we suspected, that their children's room is directly over our bedroom. The Overheads are complete strangers.

Answer: I think it best to try to keep discussion of the situation between you and the "Overheads." My suggestion would be to telephone or write Mrs. Overhead, which she would have no cause to resent provided your request is reasonable and made without rancor. You might say, "After talking it over, you and your husband have decided it best to tell her about the early morning jumping in her children's room, evidently just over your bedroom, which makes it impossible for either you or your husband to sleep after five (or six) o'clock; and that you would be most grateful for whatever she could do to improve the situation."

Dining in Cafeteria

Dear Mrs. Post: When a man and girl go to a cafeteria for something to eat, shouldn't the man precede her so that when they reach the end of the line where the cashier is seated, he can pay for her food? If she goes first it makes a rather awkward situation.

Answer: She should go ahead of him and when they get to where the cashier is, he merely leans forward and says to the cashier, "This lady is with me, please, add her food to my check."

Head Covering at Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: What qualifies as head covering at an evening wedding?

Answer: An arrangement of flowers or veiling, a lace scarf or any becoming hair ornament all qualify as head covering and are suitable.

What does the well-dressed businesswoman wear? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but readers wishing an answer to the above question will find it in leaflet E-35, "The Well-Dressed Woman." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Prospective Bride Of William Arnold

BARBARA S. NEUBAUER

Mrs. Charles Harold Neubauer of 120 Nayatt Road, Barrington, R. I. has announced the engagement of her daughter, Barbara Stanlake Neubauer, to Dr. William David Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Llewellyn Arnold of 175 North Manor Avenue, Kingston.

Miss Neubauer attended Lincoln School, Providence, R. I., and Emerson College, Boston, Mass. She is the daughter of the late Charles Harold Neubauer and made her debut in Providence in December 1949.

Dr. Arnold graduated from Kingston High School, Colgate University, Hamilton, New York and Cornell Medical College, New York City.

Miss Neubauer is television casting director at McCann-Erickson Advertising Agency in New York City.

Dr. Arnold is the grandson of the late Frank B. Matthews of Kingston. He served with the Army Medical Corps in Korea and is now associated with the Hospital for Special Surgery, New York City.

A January wedding is planned.

Fowler to Head Steering Group For Planning

N. Jansen Fowler, will serve as chairman of the Steering Committee for Planning of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

This new steering committee replaces the Planning Council in accordance with the Aims for 1958 adopted at the November meeting of the board of directors.

In making this announcement today, Chamber president Robert L. Sabin stated that this committee will study the overall area present and future needs and perhaps recommend specific problems for study by other Chamber committees. "It will not replace any other established committee, but will study the area planning needs and recommend methods of initiating action," Sabin said.

As outlined in the aims adopted by the directors, this steering committee will seek the cooperation of all local sources of information, especially officials, rather than immediately recommending resort to paid professional planners.

Mr. Sabin also pointed out that the Town Development Plan recently submitted to the residents of the Town of Ulster calls attention to the common interests of the entire area and indicated the need for working together in cooperative planning.

Ulster Real Estate Board Meets Wednesday

Norman Deweir, manager of the County Department of Dun and Bradstreet, will be the speaker at a meeting of the Ulster County Real Estate Board Wednesday, November 27, at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 1:30 o'clock.

Frederick Dircks, president of the Board, urges all realtors to attend this meeting as Mr. Deweir will have some valuable information to present.

The subject of his talk will present interesting data on credit reports, an important matter to all realtors as the promptness of credit reports are a big asset in the sale of property. There will be a question and answer period during which members will have an opportunity to enlarge on the proposition which the speaker will present.

'Pal' Parents Confuse Child, Psychologist Says

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Advice to parents: Don't try to be pals to your children.

Dr. Ralph R. Greenson, a Beverly Hills psychologist, says the children of "pal" parents become confused in their relationships and may be headed for psychological difficulties when they mature.

"Pals and chums are easy for children to find. Parents are a rarity," he said yesterday at a regional meeting of the American Psychiatric Assn. "A child needs his parents in a way in which a pal cannot serve. There is no substitute for father and mother."

Arace Appliance Store Burglarized

Police received a report at 8:48 a. m. today that Arace Appliances, 562 Broadway, had been entered some time over the weekend and $23 in change, located in a canvas bag near an office desk, had been taken.

Officers Thomas McGrane and James Amato reported entry was made by breaking a window in a rest room of the building. Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons are investigating.

Dies of Injuries

LAKE PLACID (AP)—A workman at the Whiteface Mountain Ski Development who was struck by a boulder last Monday died yesterday in Lake Placid Memorial Hospital of the injuries.

The boulder was sent flying by a dynamite blast set off at the summit of the mountain to clear land for a tower.

The workman, Alfred Sweeney, 41, of Morrisonville, was working below at the 1,900-foot level. The boulder struck his legs and one leg was amputated before he was taken to the hospital.

His Sex Changes, Scientist to Live As Wife's Sister

ROSYTHE, Scotland (AP)—A 40-year-old scientist who heads a naval electronics research team says his sex is changing but he will keep his job and live with his wife "as a sister."

Wearing women's clothes, Frank Little said at a news conference yesterday that he will dress as a man while at work to meet official requirements, but will live the rest of his life as a woman.

As he told his story his wife sat at his side. They said their children know of Little's change and that the family will remain together.

The Littles have two sons 18 and 16 and a daughter 8.

R. H. Richards, superintendent of the admiralty research establishment, also was present. He said he had asked Little to make a statement to bring the matter into the open.

On Nature's Fence

"Mr. Little is a brilliant scientist and I have every confidence in his capabilities," Richards said. "At present he is sitting on the fence of nature, but as far as I am concerned he will continue to work at the establishment—dressed as a man, of course."

Little, chief of a research team at a big naval base here, was dressed for the news conference in a green coat, red high heel shoes and nylon stockings. He wore makeup and costume jewelry and carried a red handbag.

"My biological and psychological systems began to change," he said, "and about 10 months ago I began to go out with my wife dressed as a woman. I became terribly unhappy as a man and just normal as a woman."

He said doctors are watching

One of World's Richest Men Married Sunday

DALLAS (AP)—Oilman H. L. Hunt, reportedly one of the world's richest men, married Mrs. Ruth Ray Wright, a former Oklahoma woman, yesterday.

The marriage was a quiet ceremony at the home of Mrs. Wright's pastor, the Rev. McClain Smith of the Lakewood Methodist Church in Dallas.

It was the second marriage for Hunt, 68. His first wife died in May of 1955 after a stroke. They had six children.

Mrs. Grace Ray of Idabel, Okla., told newsmen her daughter was about 36. She said she had known Hunt since meeting him about 15 years ago at Shreveport, La., where her daughter worked in a Hunt Oil Co. office.

Mrs. Ray said her daughter was previously married to an R. E. Wright in New York City, but she did not know what year. She said she did not know where the couple met or what Wright did for a living. She said she did not know whether her daughter was divorced or widowed.

The bride is the mother of four children, the oldest a son about 15.

Beck Jr. Conviction Will Be Appealed

SEATTLE (AP)—Conviction of Dave Beck Jr., 37-year-old son of Teamsters Union president Dave Beck Sr., on two counts of grand larceny will be appealed and motions for a new trial will be filed, Defense Counsel Charles S. Burdell said today.

The younger Beck was found guilty Saturday night by a jury of nine men and three women in King County superior court. The jury deliberated 6 hours and 10 minutes before finding Beck guilty of keeping for his own use $4,650 obtained from the sale of two Teamsters Union automobiles.

Beck is at liberty on $3,000 cash bond. His sentence could run up to as high as 15 years in the state penitentiary.

WONDER BROWN 'N SERVE ROLLS MADE WITH BUTTERMILK!

Make Your Family Sit Up And Take Notice!

MOM'S TOPS!

When you take Wonder Brown 'n Serve Rolls Made With Buttermilk out of the crisp cellophane-covered package and put them on an ungreased baking sheet, then put them in the oven for 6 minutes—you're in line to be a genius in the eyes of your family.

The reason is simple. The Wonder Bakers have taken a lot of the risk and trouble out of making perfect rolls.

With a formula that bakes all the way through. No soggy insides!

Instead—perfect rolls that break at the touch... glistening brown on the outside... tender white inside—a supreme treat! And each roll is in the popular three-piece "clover-leaf" shape.

Surprise your family into a spontaneous outburst of honest praise.

Which can't hurt your ego. And which can let them know your end of the partnership is on the job.

It wasn't without reason that ages ago some sage observed: "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach." That's still true—and true for all members of your family.

So get Wonder Brown 'n Serve Rolls Made With Buttermilk and follow the simple directions on back of the package. 6 minutes, and you're a genius. No guesswork—no failure!

Cokey Hunts Rabbits

By FRANK TRIPP

If you would have a satisfying companion get yourself a well bred poodle. Then let her revert, as far as she will, into just dog. You'll enjoy her more that way.

We like the miniature females; have had two of them, both romping real dogs. No spoiled lounge lizards, both have routed rabbits, squirrels, chipmunks and moles.

Our first Cokey caught a rabbit one day and ate it. How's that for a parlor poodle? It made her sick but she kept on hunting. Picking up where Cokey left off, our present Cokey Too stands sentry over Fanny's flower garden, chases all invaders away.

Winters Cokey wallows in the snow, loves it, and naps on the best sofas. Summers she is the sole privileged character allowed to roam at will among the flowers. She treads as carefully as would the most experienced gardener.

THE RABBITS seem to like the choicest flowers best and before Cokey they feasted on them.

The garden background is Seneca's rock ledge, mounting terraces, treacherous to all save Cokey. She has a trail that she follows in search of the prey, forward and reverse countless times a day.

Of a sudden she will dart off her beat and scurrying will go a rabbit, maybe a woodchuck. We tremble lest some eve it will be a cunning black "kitty" with a white stripe. Cokey would sleep in the tool shed that night.

WHAT MOST people don't know about poodles is that they are natural retrievers if given a chance. So many generations of them have been denied their bent that they have a sissy reputation. Besides they are not French, but far back Russian. The frequently ridiculous haired-do imposed upon them has no explanation beyond the whims of owners who deny them free rein. But there is practical and historic reason for the topknot and the flaglike tail.

Before poodles were bred as pets they were tops as hunters. To this day their intelligence, patience and obedience are near unobtainable.

Hunters who used them as retrievers clipped their woolly legs to give them swimming freedom. They left their bushy head and tail tip better to follow them through the reeds and rushes.

WE FIGURE that letting Cokey be a part-time "just dog" has brought out some of the characteristics of her ancestors; surely has made us appreciate and love her more.

She's so happy, proud and grateful when we praise her adventures; tries more to please us, understands us better; seems she knows every word.

There was something in her background besides cologne and bonbons that lures her to sequestered places, gives her the urge to hunt and willingness to obey.

Too bad more imprisoned, leash-led poodles can't have open spaces in which to meander.

Thank you, little Cokey, for giving me another column. You are no bargain at the hairdressers but you are more than paying your way.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That if there is anything you have left undone you'd better hurry up and do it. . . . Scientists used to think the world would last another 50 billion years. . . . Now some believe that wild explosions from the dying sun may crisp this planet within three to ten billion years.

That a government survey found high school graduates earn an average of $50,000 more than non-grads during a working lifetime. . . . That diploma is worth getting.

That Monique Van Vooren, Belgium's bomb shell entertainer, gives this definition of a honeymoon: "coo-existence."

Frozen Food Experts
That the original frozen food experts were the Laplanders. . . . who milk half-wild reindeer and preserve the milk in frozen chunks all winter.

That if you doubt the U. S. Weather Bureau's forecasts, here are a few old-fashioned beliefs to rely on: Low-flying swallows are a sure sign of rain. . . . The flight of seagulls inland indicates a coming storm.

That one of the troubles even with the 1958 model cars is that their back seat drivers never run out of gas.

That President Eisenhower may be interested in a new golf hat designed by Harry Rolnick, a Garland, Tex., manufacturer. . . . It has a built-in pocket that can hold three spare golf balls.

That by the time a fellow has enough money to get married. . . . he's usually celebrating his 10th wedding anniversary.

That new crinkle-proof popcorn bags have been developed to foil movie cut-ups. . . . When blown up and smashed they don't make a sound. . . . And teen-agers can't fill them with water and drop them from the balcony. . . . They won't hold water. (Somebody's always taking the fun out of being a teen-ager.)

Drug Store Sign
That an East Side drug store has this sign over its weight machine: "Scale wage still one cent."

And a sign outside a Madison Avenue salon warns: "Hair today may be gone tomorrow." That the fastest recorded flight of a bird is that of an Indian species of the Swift. . . . It was clocked at nearly 200 miles an hour.

That the temperature of the earth increases about one degree for every 60 feet of depth. . . . Dig down two miles and it is hot enough to boil an egg. (Don't buy your bride a new stove; give her a pick and shovel.)

That every day the rains and rivers sweep eight million tons of earth into the sea.

That comic George De Witt tells the silly about the poppa cloud who got peeved because the mama cloud insisted on going through his air pockets.

That it is an old custom for British royalty to use the title "Earl of Chester" when traveling incognito. . . . Even Queen Victoria was known as the "Countess of Chester" when she vacationed secretly.

Shaw's View
That the W. C. T. U. might be interested in this assertion by George Bernard Shaw: "The people drink to ease the painful process of living."

That manicurists always have nice nails. . . . barbers always have well-kept hair. . . . clothing salesmen are always nicely dressed. . . . But did you ever see a shoe shine boy with neatly polished shoes?

That a namesake for every U. S. president is listed in the New York City phone books.

That one third of the accidents that befall a modern husband happen while he is working on do-it-yourself projects outside his home. . . . And one half the minor accidents that befall the lady of the house occur while she is in the kitchen.

That it was the poet Dante who observed, "His will is our peace."

Alligator at Fault

BRAZIL, Ind. (AP)—This must be a new one. Gordon Wesner Jr. blamed an alligator when he drove into another car here. Sure enough police found a three-foot alligator inside Wesner's station wagon. It had crawled out of a box. Wesner was taking it to a biology class at DePauw University, where he is a student teacher.

BRIDGE

King Spotted by West Lead

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

Obviously North and South must have known what they were doing since they landed at a very satisfactory five club contract.

If the bidding appears peculiar to you it is because North and South were using a modern gadget known as the unusual no-trump.

North's two no trump bid did not indicate any desire to play no-trump. All it did was tell his partner that he was loaded with diamonds and clubs.

East's four spade bid made things difficult for South but he was not going to be shut out. He did not know if he could make five clubs but he knew that he wouldn't be hurt since his partner had guaranteed length in both minor suits.

West opened the ace of spades and continued the suit. South trumped in dummy and led dummy's singleton heart. This play gave him a chance to plan his complete play later on.

West won with the ten and led a third spade. South trumped in dummy, discarded a heart from his hand and considered the significance of West's play.

He decided that West would surely have led a diamond if he did not hold the king. Hence, the diamond finesse would work. South played the ace of clubs from dummy, led a club to his king, finessed the queen of diamonds, trumped a diamond, ruffed a heart in dummy, ruffed another diamond with his last trump and claimed the balance of the tricks since dummy was now entirely good.

Trains Strike Twice

CYNTHIANA, Ky. (AP)—Charles Palmer's timing was too good: his auto was hit by two trains. The car stalled on double tracks and Palmer, hearing a train approach, bailed out. The train hit the vehicle and knocked it into the path of another from the south. The trains were delayed only slightly, but Palmer was delayed considerably. He was arrested for drunken driving.

Kingston Five Opens Hudson Valley League at Poughkeepsie

First Game Set Dec. 12; Home Opener Dec. 15

Kingston's Hudson Valley Basketball League entry will open its home schedule on Sunday, December 15, against Middletown at the municipal auditorium.

Opening dates for six-team circuit were announced at a league meeting Sunday at the Elks Lodge in Kingston. Fred Davi, who holds the Kingston franchise attended. Andrew Murphy III, league president, presided.

Kingston's cagers are scheduled to get their first taste of league competition Dec. 12 at the new Poughkeepsie High school gym when a doubleheader is scheduled.

The Poughkeepsie-Staatsburg combine plays Kingston in the second game of a banner doubleheader launching league activities in the Bridge City. Fishkill and the Pine Plains Bombardiers are slated in the opener.

Coach Robert (Red) Murray Jr., has scheduled a final for Kingston candidates tonight at 7 o'clock at the M.J.M. school gym. The Kingston roster will be selected after the workout and is scheduled to scrimmage against New Paltz State varsity Tuesday night at New Paltz.

Opening dates announced at Sunday's meeting are:

NOV. 29 — Pine Plains at Stewart Field.

DECEMBER 5—Stewart Field vs. Fishkill at Wappingers Central gym.

DECEMBER 8—Fishkill at Middletown.

DECEMBER 12—Fishkill vs. Pine Plains, and Kingston vs. Poughkeepsie-Staatsburg at Poughkeepsie High school gym.

DECEMBER 15—Middletown at Kingston, 4 p. m.

The schedule for the first year of the league was adopted and will embrace a home-and-home series between each team. The top four teams at the end of the double round will engage in a Shaughnessy playoff.

A player limit of 15 men was placed on rosters.

The league filled two vice-presidential posts, naming Ed. Gled, sports editor of the Middletown Record, first vice-president and Addison Jones of Kingston, second vice-president.

Player rosters and the seasonal schedule will be released by Secretary John Babiarz of Poughkeepsie.

Dutchess Recs Trip Prospects

Dutchess Recs legklers maintained a strong contending position in the Hudson Valley league with a 2-1 victory over Prospect Dairies, Saturday on the Bowlero lanes.

The Recs accomplished the feat with a modest 2811 series, as Prospects dipped below the 2700 mark. Phil Versace was the difference between the teams, stacking games of 245, 194 and 210 for 649. Jack Houghtaling bagged 226-589 for Prospects.

Rocky Lee Set For First Bout

Cowboy Rocky Lee, 325 pounds of Texas joviality and meanness, has been signed to grapple Mike Miquel Perez, 225, of Puerto Rico, in the opening 30-minute bout on Thanksgiving night's wrestling card at the municipal auditorium.

Lee is one of the best entertainers ever to show here, a gargantuan who has developed his histrionic skills to a high degree.

Main event sends Ricki Starr against Prof. Jerry Graham, one of the villains of the recent Madison Square Garden brawl. Karl Von Hess and Irish (Skull) Murphy have been paired against the Levin brothers in an Australian tag-team match.

Gola Leads Warriors

Tom Gola turned in a sparkling performance in leading the Philadelphia Warriors to a 105-98 victory over the Minneapolis Lakers in Sunday's only National Basketball Assn. game.

The former Lasalle College All-American scored 20 points and had 14 rebounds and seven assists. There was a busier NBA card Saturday as the Boston Celtics won their 13th without a loss, defeating the Lakers 131-107; the Syracuse Nats beat the New York Knicks 119-115, and St. Louis outscored over Detroit 115-110.

Cornell-Penn Tilt Thanksgiving Day Caps Ivy Season

By The Associated Press

The Cornell-Pennsylvania game Thursday will wind up Ivy League competition for 1957. But this traditional Thanksgiving Day tussle will have little effect on the standings.

To all intents and purposes, the Ivy League action came to a close Saturday when Princeton wrapped up the championship by defeating previously-unbeaten Dartmouth.

Yale career passing record as the Elis walloped Harvard 54-0, and Columbia wound up another dismal campaign by dropping a 26-7 verdict to non-league Rutgers.

Princeton succeeded Yale as the Ivy titleholder. The Tigers were led by Dan Sachs, a sophomore tailback, who scored three touchdowns and set up another.

Thus Princeton finished the campaign with a 6-1 mark in the league with Dartmouth second at 5-1-1.

Yale piled up the highest margin of victory ever recorded in its series with Harvard. It was the 74th game of the set which dates back to 1875. Winterbauer, as usual, was the Elis' big man. He passed for three touchdowns, giving him a three-year total of 20.

Columbia, which opened its season under Buff Donelli so impressively by whipping Brown, dropped its eighth straight game.

Cornell and Penn were idle. But Penn, by virtue of Harvard's setback, moved into the Ivy's sixth place. Cornell remained fourth at 3-3.

In addition to Cornell and Penn, Brown also has one more game remaining on its schedule—Thursday's non-league game with Colgate.

BASKETBALL TIPS: Coach John Gilligan of the Kingston High school basketball varsity demonstrates a ball handling technique to members of the KHS varsity while Boys Club members look on in the first of a series of clinics

Wayne Scott's triumph over Jerry Oster in the All Star eliminations might have surprised the bowling mob, but Rose Schatzel's victory in the women's division caused not a single eyebrow to be lifted.

Scott, who bowls out of Middletown, demonstrated tremendous potential when he first burst on the Hudson Valley League scene after the war. He had all the equipment to become another Johnny Ferraro or Tony Mack—large meat hooks, a good temperament and powerful, crackling hook. He developed into a good bowler, but never the great one his fans expected. He's still young enough to do it.

Mrs. Schatzel's victory, despite the fact she is bowling under her pristine par, merely reaffirmed what everybody knew. She is the undisputed Queen of the mid-Hudson district and one of the top female bowlers in the eastern part of the country.

• Splits and Misses:

Mitzie Arlensky's whopping 734 in the Sportsman's Major points up the scarcity of 700 blasts this season. The new lanes at the Bowlero and Bowlerama could be a contributing factor, if you'll pardon the tongue in cheek. . . . Speaking of high scoring lanes, know which city is the hotbed of high score lanes in the country? That's easy, St. Louis, where 90 perfect "300" scores have been rolled at the Bowl-Mor alleys in the last 15 seasons, a mere 52 during the 1956-57 campaign. Cleveland was runnerup with 29 perfect games. . . . Frank (Po) Biamonte, ex-Hudson Valley League performer, smashed 702 at Middletown. . . . Jerry Jaurez, owner and proprietor of the Jode-Lano Recreation Center, was a "name" bowler in the Joe Falcara-Andy Varipapa-Barney Spinella-Mike Shirghio and Thums Classic era in New York. In a match against Glen Ridel, then Eastern match game champion, Suarez averaged 233 in 40 games and lost by 17 pins. His Mount Vernon alleys burned to the ground in 1943. Last time we looked, Johnny Walther was leading Morris Cramer, 215 to 214 in Capital City Classic (Albany) averages. . . .

• Evelyn Gross Now 10th:

Evelyn Gross, the Blonde Bomber, is now tenth in national high series ratings with her 680 in the IBM Floral League, where she must be cracking the pins at 170 or better. Current national woman leader is Helen Erickson of Minneapolis with 720. Marilyn Tobias, Van Wert, Ohio, has 715; Eloise Greenbauer, Grand Rapids, 706; Ethel Hill, St. Louis, 705 and Wyllis Ryskamp, Grand Rapids, 700. Three "300" scores have been compiled by women bowlers, Marge Davison of Grand Rapids, Judy Seki of Los Angeles and Myrt Del Fily of San Antonio. Dolores Stradley of Wilmington, Del., near-missed with 299. . . . Mural-Ettes of Detroit lead 3113 in the team department and Pepsi-Cola of the same city has 1070. . . . Pat McMaster of St. Louis heads the average parade with 203 for 21 games. Marge Merrick, Detroit, and Ruth Kemper of Newport, Ky., are hitting 200.

• The Eleventh Frame:

Sis Balash appears to be the most improved bowler of the season and is the new find. The honors went to Ann Manfro in the 1956-57 campaign. . . . It's nice to see Eddie Auclair climb into that "600" circle now and then. Here is one of the city's most avid bowlers. . . . If your name has been missing from the bowling roundup when you had 500 or more, it's probably because somebody was too lazy to write out the first names. . . . Another gimmick that won't stand up is submitting league reports with the first names on half of the sheets and omitted from the rest. . . . Failure of the Singles Classic to organize proves either or both of two things: 1. match game interest in Kingston has dipped to a dismal low, or the factions are still feuding, maybe not as much as the boys who assembled at Apalachin to give each other haircuts, but feudin' just the same.

SMALL WORLD DEPARTMENT—We don't know the lady, personally, just happened to say something nice about her in the bowling column. She was overjoyed. It came to us from another source how pleased she was. The person who told us said: "She's related somehow to the big shot bowler who keeps sending you anonymous letters." Which made us wonder how anonymous can you get?

Balding Wins Florida Golf

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (P) —Al Balding won the third annual West Palm Beach invitation open today with a 54-hole score of 209.

Balding took the top prize of $1,200 in the $10,000 tournament and added another $50 for his 68 which was matched by three others for the low score on the last day of the event.

Bert Weaver, Beaumont, Tex., the first-day leader, and co-leader with Dave Marr going into the final round, shot a 71 and finished in a tie for second with Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., at 210.

Marr, a Texan playing out of Rumson, N. J., faded today for a 215 and a five-way tie for twelfth place.

Balding was out in 34 and in the same score. Weaver

Bell Wants Brass To Meet Offers

PHILADELPHIA (P) — Commissioner Bert Bell recommended to National Football League owners last month that they grant all the demands of the Players Assn., the Associated Press learned today.

The recommendations by Bell, if adopted by the owners at their Dec. 2 or mid-January meetings, probably would negate the $4,200,000 law suit threatened last week by Creighton Miller, attorney for the Players Assn.

An unimpeachable source disclosed today that in a bulletin dated Oct. 16, Bell urged the owners to establish a minimum salary, pay for exhibition games and an injury protection clause.

He went out in 36 and came back in 35. Par is 36-36-72 on the West Palm Beach Country Club course.

Deadline for Rallye Entries Extended to Racing Date

Kingston National Little League will hold an important meeting Monday (tonight) at 7:30 at the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall, 442 Delaware Avenue, according to an announcement by President Ray Radell.

Officials, managers, coaches and any one else interested in small fry baseball are urged to be present.

A flood of inquiries from motoring clubs all over New York state and Connecticut has forced the Woodstock Iron Works to revamp its plans for the December 8 European-style rallye, Elliott Nevins has announced.

The change in plans includes moving the deadline right up to starting time to accommodate all drivers interested in participating in the races which start at 9 a. m. The original deadline was today.

The Iron Works also announced it would award a Club Trophy in addition to the original list of prizes if, as expected, three or more club teams enter the rallye. As a direct result of all this response, the original limitation to 30 cars has had to be dropped and the field will be unlimited for the first annual "dawn-to-dusk" rallye.

The rallye is open to all kinds of "iron" drivers. Entries can be filled with Vince Dean, Woodstock.

Highland Defeats Wappingers, 6-0, for DCSL Grid Crown

Mazzetti Scores Lone TD After Fumble Recovery

Chuck Mazzetti raced 24 yards for the only touchdown of the game as Highland High upset Wappingers Falls, 6-0, and captured the Dutchess County Scholastic League (DCSL) football championship Saturday on the loser's field.

Mazzetti, a senior fullback, scored after recovering a Wappingers fumble on the 24 in the second period. He was stopped short trying to plunge for the extra point.

By winning, Highland spoiled the Fallsmen's bid for an unbeaten season. Wappingers had won five straight after an opening non-league tie with Newburgh Free Academy.

The victory was richly deserved for Coach Bob Relyea's inexperienced forces who were playing their first year in the DCSL. It was their fifth win, all in the league, against just two setbacks.

Highland Dominates

Highland dominated the game throughout. The Fallsmen never threatened seriously to score. Halfback Ed Dolfinger raced from his own 25 to the Highland 35 in the third period but was nailed from behind by Ralph Penney. Wappingers was detected clipping on the play and was shoved back to its own 27. Just before the explosive play, Highland got to the Fallsmen's 5 but was pushed back to the 20 by a holding penalty and then had to give up the ball.

Highland's rock-ribbed defense held the homers to just 11 net yards rushing and 14 passing. Senior tackles Sam Vona and Dan Angellio spearheaded the forward wall.

Four seniors played their last game for Highland—Vona, Angellio, Mazzetti and quarterback Dave Burdash. Wappingers had eight.

2-Year-Old Title Poses Problem

BALTIMORE (AP) — The 2-year-old turf championship today hinges on whether the experts consider the victory of Jewel's Reward in last Saturday's Pimlico Futurity emphatic enough to warrant giving him the call over such a worthy rival as Nadir.

Jewel's Reward, carrying the silks of Mrs. Elizabeth Graham's Maine Chance Farm, won the mile and one-sixteenth of the Futurity by a length over Nala. Misty Flight, highly regarded for the juvenile title, ran himself right out of consideration by finishing among the also rans as Jewel's Reward stepped the distance in 1:44 1-5 under Willie Shoemaker and paid $5.60 for $2.

The winning purse of $115,347 boosted the earnings of Jewel's Reward to a record high of $349,642 for a juvenile.

One of the few blots on the record of Jewel's Reward is the Garden State Stakes, in which he finished far back as Nadir carried the silks of A. B. Hancock's Chaborn Farm to victory in the world's richest race. Nadir didn't run in the Pimlico Futurity.

Angels Topple Wimpy's To Gain 'A' League Tie

The YMCA "A" League has a championship playoff scheduled Nov. 30 because Wimpy's No. 1 Iron Man quintet was unable to contain the power-packed and heavily buttressed Harry's Angels in a game played Nov. 23.

The Angels staged off elimination from the race with a decisive 101-86 victory, although they trailed 24-13 at the quarter mark.

Time and the overwhelming Angel manpower were down the gallant Wimpy's basketweavers. They managed to cling to a 43-42 margin at the half but were completely outplayed after the recess.

Working himself into shape for the winter campaign and Hudson Valley League, sharpshooting George Carpozis revealed a finely honed form with 30 points for the winners. Big Andy Juhl dunked 26 points, Dick Terlingen 18 and Lafayette Holstein 14.

Buddy Smith and Bill DuBois meshed 27 points each for Wimpy's and contributed 16 points to the loser's 24-point first period. Boulevard Gulf knocked off Back's 85-79, in a companion game, moving two points ahead in the first quarter and adding five points the rest of the way in three closely fought quarters. The halftime score was 35-32.

Huyler Van Wagenen of Back's took game honors with 25 points and Spec Ebelheiser potted 16. Charlie Marable swished 22 and Dittus 18 for Boulevards.

The Associated Press

Ohio State, the once-beaten Big 10 champion, laid a bold claim today to the national collegiate football title for 1957.

The only team that appears to be in a position to challenge the powerful Buckeyes, who flattened Michigan 31-14 last weekend, is Auburn, the king of the Southeastern Conference and one of the two major unbeaten-united teams left in the twilight of the campaign. The Tigers and Arizona State of Tempe, a 41-0 winner over College of Pacific, are 9-0 now.

Only a week ago, Michigan State was selected over Auburn as the No. 1 team in the weekly Associated Press poll. The Spartans also had been beaten once, but their powerful offense apparently was more impressive than Auburn's tough defense.

Kansas State Tough

Now the Spartans may be eliminated, however, after the tough time they had beating Kansas State, 27-9.

Auburn gave its defensive unit some offensive support for a change last week, thumping Florida State 29-7. But Ohio State, once again showing its running strength behind a dependable blocking line, came up with 372 yards rushing in its bid for the title.

Ohio State will meet Oregon in the Rose Bowl and will rule the heavy favorite. Oregon was held to only a co-championship in the Pacific Coast Conference, losing 10-7 to Oregon State, which claimed a share of the title although denied a second consecutive trip to the Rose Bowl.

Auburn's Credentials

As for Auburn's credentials, the Tigers have only Alabama (2-6-1) between them and a perfect season. Coach Shug Jordan's lads have shut out five of their opponents and permitted the other four just one touchdown apiece.

While it's true that Auburn has not met Mississippi, one of the class teams of the Southeastern Conference, the Plainsmen have effectively disposed of all their opponents, including the likes of Tennessee, Georgia Tech and Kentucky which whipped Tennessee, 20-7, in the big upset of last Saturday.

Auburn is on NCAA probation and is ineligible to play in a bowl. So the host spot for the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans Jan. 1, usually reserved for the conference king, probably will go to Mississippi—if "Ol Miss, idle last week, gets past ambitious Mississippi State.

The opponent will be determined by the Southwest Conference race. If Rice beats Baylor Saturday, the Owls go to the Cotton Bowl, and Texas A&M probably will provide the SEC's opposition in the Sugar Bowl. Rice whipped Texas Christian 20-0 last weekend. A&M, idle after the 7-6 upset by the Owls, plays Texas Thanksgiving Day.

Cotton Bowl Bid

The visiting team in the Cotton Bowl will be decided after Saturday's Army-Navy clash in Philadelphia. If Navy wins it, the Middle in all probability will head for Dallas. They say they will be receptive to a bowl bid if they get by Army. Both were idle last week.

The other major bowl the Orange in Miami is all set. Oklahoma, which started a new winning streak with a 32-7 victory over Nebraska Saturday, will meet Duke.

The Blue Devils were selected by the Atlantic Coast Conference yesterday, although they took a 21-13 whipping from North Carolina Saturday. North Carolina State won the conference title with a 29-26 victory over South Carolina, but, like Auburn, is in the bad graces of the NCAA, and can't participate in post-season competition.

So no matter how it works out, there won't be an undefeated team in any of the four major bowls. That's a rarity.

NotreDams All-America

NOTRE DAME, Ind.—(NEA)—The Notre Dame football team could reasonably be called an All-America squad.

Navy Tackle Doubles as Mat Champ

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Guard Tony Stremic hopes to put his wrestling skill to work for a Navy football victory over Army Saturday.

The 205-pound grappler, undefeated as a Navy heavyweight last year and runner-up for the Eastern and national championship, plays left guard on the football team.

Head Coach Eddie Erdelatz calls Stremic "the unsung hero" of the Navy line. And many Navy followers, who have watched him bang opponents around for the past three years, will agree with the coach.

How do football and wrestling mix as sports? "Great," says Stremic.

"On the mat you have to think to get in position, look for your opponent's weaknesses and attack them. It's the same thing in football. You size up your opponent, decide just how you're going to handle him and hit him quickly."

Stremic says wrestling, which he has done since he was a sixth grader in the Elkins Park section of Philadelphia, develops good balance and quickness for football. Stremic, who broke into the Navy football lineup as a starter five games his sophomore year, has been a regular guard the past two seasons and a mainstay of the Navy line.

Last year he played 360 minutes, the most of any player on the Navy team. This year he has logged 336 minutes in nine games.

Rangers' Watson Seeing Defeat in Different Light

NEW YORK (AP)—What a difference a year makes. The usually fiery Phil Watson, who couldn't stomach defeat last season, now is almost philosophical about it when his New York Rangers lose.

When the Blues were whipped by last-place Toronto 5-1 in National Hockey League play last night, Watson shrugged it off. "Maybe getting beat is a good thing—not that I enjoy losing," he said, "but now the boys will be willing to listen again and we'll have a good hard workout."

The change in the Ranger coach, of course, very likely is triggered by the Rangers. A year ago Watson was strictly a worry guy while the Blues battled for fourth place. Now, even after last night's somewhat shabby exhibition, the Rangers still are leading the NHL. Detroit kept the Rangers on top by tying second-place Montreal 3-3. The Canadiens are a point shy of the Rangers, although they picked up three points over the weekend, counting two in Saturday's 4-2 televised victory at Boston.

The Rangers, who had been unbeaten in five games until last night and had lost only one of their last 11, fell apart when the Leafs scored three goals in the first period. With that lead, the Leafs, now just a point behind Detroit, played it safe, falling back to check Ranger thrusts in a defense that allowed only 18 shots to get through. Goalie Ed Chadwick handled 17 of 'em.

The Red Wings overhauled a 2-0 Montreal lead with three goals in the third period. Gordy Howe scored two of them, and assisted on the third.

Chicago and Boston remained tied for third place in the other game last night as the Black Hawks deadlocked the Bruins 2-2 on Eric Nesterenko's goal, with 48 seconds remaining.

New Paltz College Harriers Defeat Utica in Finale, 26-29

Lane Up Against Trading Problems

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank Lane, baseball's master trader who was recently appointed general manager of the Cleveland Indians, might have trouble swining deals in the American League this season.

Lane, who yesterday huddled with Vice-President Chuck Coniskey of the Chicago White Sox, has one goal in mind. "I'm out to get our club a second baseman or a shortstop or both," he said. "I'm willing to trade but I must get what we need, and those are our two weak positions."

Lane admitted he'll have trouble trading but hoped to be able to consummate the deals he has in mind.

"I'm willing to trade (Ray) Narleski or (Earl) Wynn for infield strength, but I have to get what I want."

Chisox Interested

The Sox expressed interest in pitchers Don Mossi, Narleski and Wynn, but when Lane asked for second baseman Nelson Fox and shortstop Luis Aparicio, the talks ended.

Lane was still disappointed about missing out on infielder Billy Martin, who went from Kansas City to Detroit in a multi-player deal.

"I wanted Martin badly," said Lane, "but I know I won't be able to get him now."

When the White Sox mentioned center fielder Larry Doby as trade bait, Lane showed interest.

Pete Hengstenberg, a German-born freshman, was the individual winner as New Paltz Teachers College defeated Utica College, 26-29, in cross country Saturday on the winner's course.

Hengstenberg, who has been in this country for less than two years, was clocked in 11:59 over the 2.2 mile course. Herman Stubbs, who was undefeated going into the meet, finished second in the time of 12:05 for Utica's best showing.

Maurice Knack of New Paltz and Hudson grabbed third place honors in 13:07. Teammates Fritz Grupe and John Freer wound up eighth and ninth respectively.

The meet closed out the first season of cross country for the Hawks. In their other meet earlier, they lost to the strong Colleskill Aggies.

Split in Dartball

Ulster Park and Plattekill dartball teams shared honors in grange league doubleheader. The Ulster Park women won their match, 6-2, 0-6, 5-2. The Plattekill men triumphed 9-6, 4-1, 14-3. Next match is scheduled tonight at Highland.

but said he wouldn't give up a pitcher for Doby.

"Sure, I'd like to have Doby," said Lane, "but I'm not ready to give up the pitching for Doby that I would for an infielder."

Lane said any member of the Indians might be traded with the exception of pitcher Herb Score.

"Score is one player who is not up for trade," said Lane.

Gagliardo Subs Against Miteff in St. Nick Go

The Associated Press

What shapes up as an interesting week in the sport of fistfights gets underway with a bang tonight with Alex Miteff, the strong heavyweight from Argentina, and Ralph Dupas, high-ranked lightweight contender, headlining two cards.

Miteff, who stopped Bob Graves of Holyoke, Mass., Nov. 12 in his last outing, takes on Tony Gagliardo of Brooklyn at St. Nicholas Arena.

Gagliardo is a late sub for unbeaten Lenny Kenthal of Washington who was forced to withdraw because of a side injury suffered in training. Miteff was unbeaten until he ran into Mike DeJohn Oct. 9. The bout will be carried on TV (Dumont) in some sections.

Dupas faces Mickey Crawford of Saginaw, Mich., in a 10-round non-televised fight at New Orleans.

Pastrano Bout

Willie Pastrano, the fancy boxer from New Orleans who made a big hit in London by whipping Dick Richardson, fights Willi Besmanoff of Germany on the Wednesday series (ABC-TV) at Miami Beach, Fla.

The match should provide a sharp contrast in styles between the classy Pastrano with his quick moves and superior boxing skill, against the willing but unimaginative German import.

Both men lost to Roy Harris, the boy from Cut and Shoot, Tex. during the year.

Lightweight Go

Lightweight contenders take over at Madison Square Garden in New York on the Friday shot (NBC - Radio - TV) with Johnny Busso of New York boxing Paolo Rosi of Italy.

Rosi, No. 5 contender, probably will be favored over the improving Busso, who is No. 8 or 9, depending on which rating you check. Busso outpointed Gale Kerwin in the Garden, Oct. 25 and Rosi won over Ray Portilla. They were to have fought in March but the bout was set back several times.

Title Match

Pascual Perez defends his world flyweight title Saturday at a Buenos Aires soccer stadium against Young Martin of Spain, his No. 1 challenger. The scrap was postponed a week from Nov. 23 because of "organizational details."

It will be the fifth time Perez, an Argentine, has risked the title he won from Japan's Yoshio Shirai in 1954.

Moore In Action

Light heavyweight champ Archie Moore boxes over-the-weight Friday at Portland, Ore. against Roger Rischer of Oakland, Calif. Archie also is supposed to box in Brazil, Dec. 13 against the Brazilian champ, Luiz Ignacio. Jimmy Slade, ranked light heavy will test Orvil Pitts of Milwaukee in his home town Tuesday.

Ski Coach Clinic Slated at Hanover

HANOVER, N. H.—A clinic for ski coaches, to cover all four events, is scheduled here November 29 and 30 under the sponsorship of the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association. The program will be conducted by top ranking authorities. Alpine coaching will be covered on Friday, Nordic on Saturday.

A comprehensive program of lectures, films and discussions is planned with supplemental films on new techniques in both the Alpine and Nordic events. The clinic will be concluded with a brief general examination, the passing of which with a minimum grade will qualify the taker as a certified ski coach of the USEASA.

Rookies Paying Off in Spades for Browns

Coach Paul Brown's gamble on unpredictable rookie talent to revive his Cleveland Browns is paying off. The Browns are a half game ahead today in the race for the Eastern Division title of the National Football League.

Fullback Jim Brown, Coach Brown's No. 1 draft choice this season, yesterday gained a record 237 yards rushing and scored four touchdowns. He was the thrust behind Cleveland's 45-31 defeat of Los Angeles.

Milt Plum, the No. 2 draft choice, filled in for injured quarterback Tom O'Connell and guided the division leaders to five touchdowns and a field goal. The Browns have a 7-1-1 record.

Cleveland leads the New York Giants, who whipped the Chicago Cardinals 28-21. New York's record is 7-2-0.

The Western Division muddle was dissolved for a week at least when the Baltimore Colts whipped San Francisco 27-21 and the Chicago Bears upset Detroit 27-7. The Colts (6-3) took the lead and the 49ers and Lions (both 5-4) fell to second.

In the other games, Green Bay virtually blasted Pittsburgh's hopes of an Eastern title with a 27-10 lacing, and Philadelphia whipped Washington 21-12.

Brown, Syracuse's All-America in 1956, broke the 223-yard mark set last season by Tom Wilson of Los Angeles. He dribbled his way to his longest run of 69 yards. He fumbled as he passed the line of scrimmage, raced two steps, picked up the ball and scored the touchdown, putting the Browns ahead 14-7.

Plum Takes Over

O'Connell, the league's leading passer, was injured in the second period with the score 7-7. Plum completed six of nine passes for 62 yards. The rookie played for Penn State.

Chuck Conerly threw two scoring passes for the Giants and set up two other touchdowns with his tosses against the Cardinals. New York led Chicago 28-7 at the half. Conerly tossed touchdowns to Kyle Rote and Frank Gifford. His 70-yard pass play with Bob Schnelker set up Alex Webster's one-yard scoring plunge. He also pitched 41 yards to Ken Macafee and Webster went over from the 2.

The Bears overcame a rash of early penalties for a stunning upset behind workhorse Rick Casares. The Windy City crew wiped out Detroit's 7-0 first period lead with a 17-point splurge in the second quarter and their massive defense threw back every Lion threat the rest of the distance.

Casares was the man the Bears called on when they needed important yardage and the big fullback came through in spectacular fashion. He scored twice on runs of 1 and 25 yards and another 22-yard touchdown in the first half was nullified by a penalty.

Casares Whole Show
Although quarterback Ed

Brown set up Chicago's first score with three pass completions, Casares was the whole show before the overflow crowd of 55,749. George Blanda kicked a pair of field goals for the Bears.

The Colts came from behind three times and scored in the last minute to whip the 49ers when quarterback John Unitas passed eight yards to Alan Ameche to climax an 82-yard move.

Quarterback Y. A. Tittle, a one-time Baltimore pro, kept the 49ers in step with the Colts throughout by plunging for two touchdowns and passing for the other. His passes moved them 70 yards for a tying touchdown in the fourth period and Gordy Soltau converted to give the 49ers a 21-20 lead. Billy Wilson grabbed the payoff pitch—a 19-yarder.

Moore Scores

Lenny Moore scored on a 41-yard dash and L. B. Dupre counted on an 11-yard run for the Colts' other TDs. Steve Myhra kicked two field goals and connected for three PATs to round out the Baltimore scoring.

All-American halfback Tommy McDonald from Oklahoma, who was used as an end, caught two touchdowns passes to pace the Eagles. Trailing 6-0, as the result of two field goals by the Redskins' Sam Baker, the Eagles grabbed the lead in the second period when McDonald leaped high between two Washington defenders and snatched a pass from rookie quarterback Sonny Jurgensen for a 61-yard touchdown play.

Another Field Goal

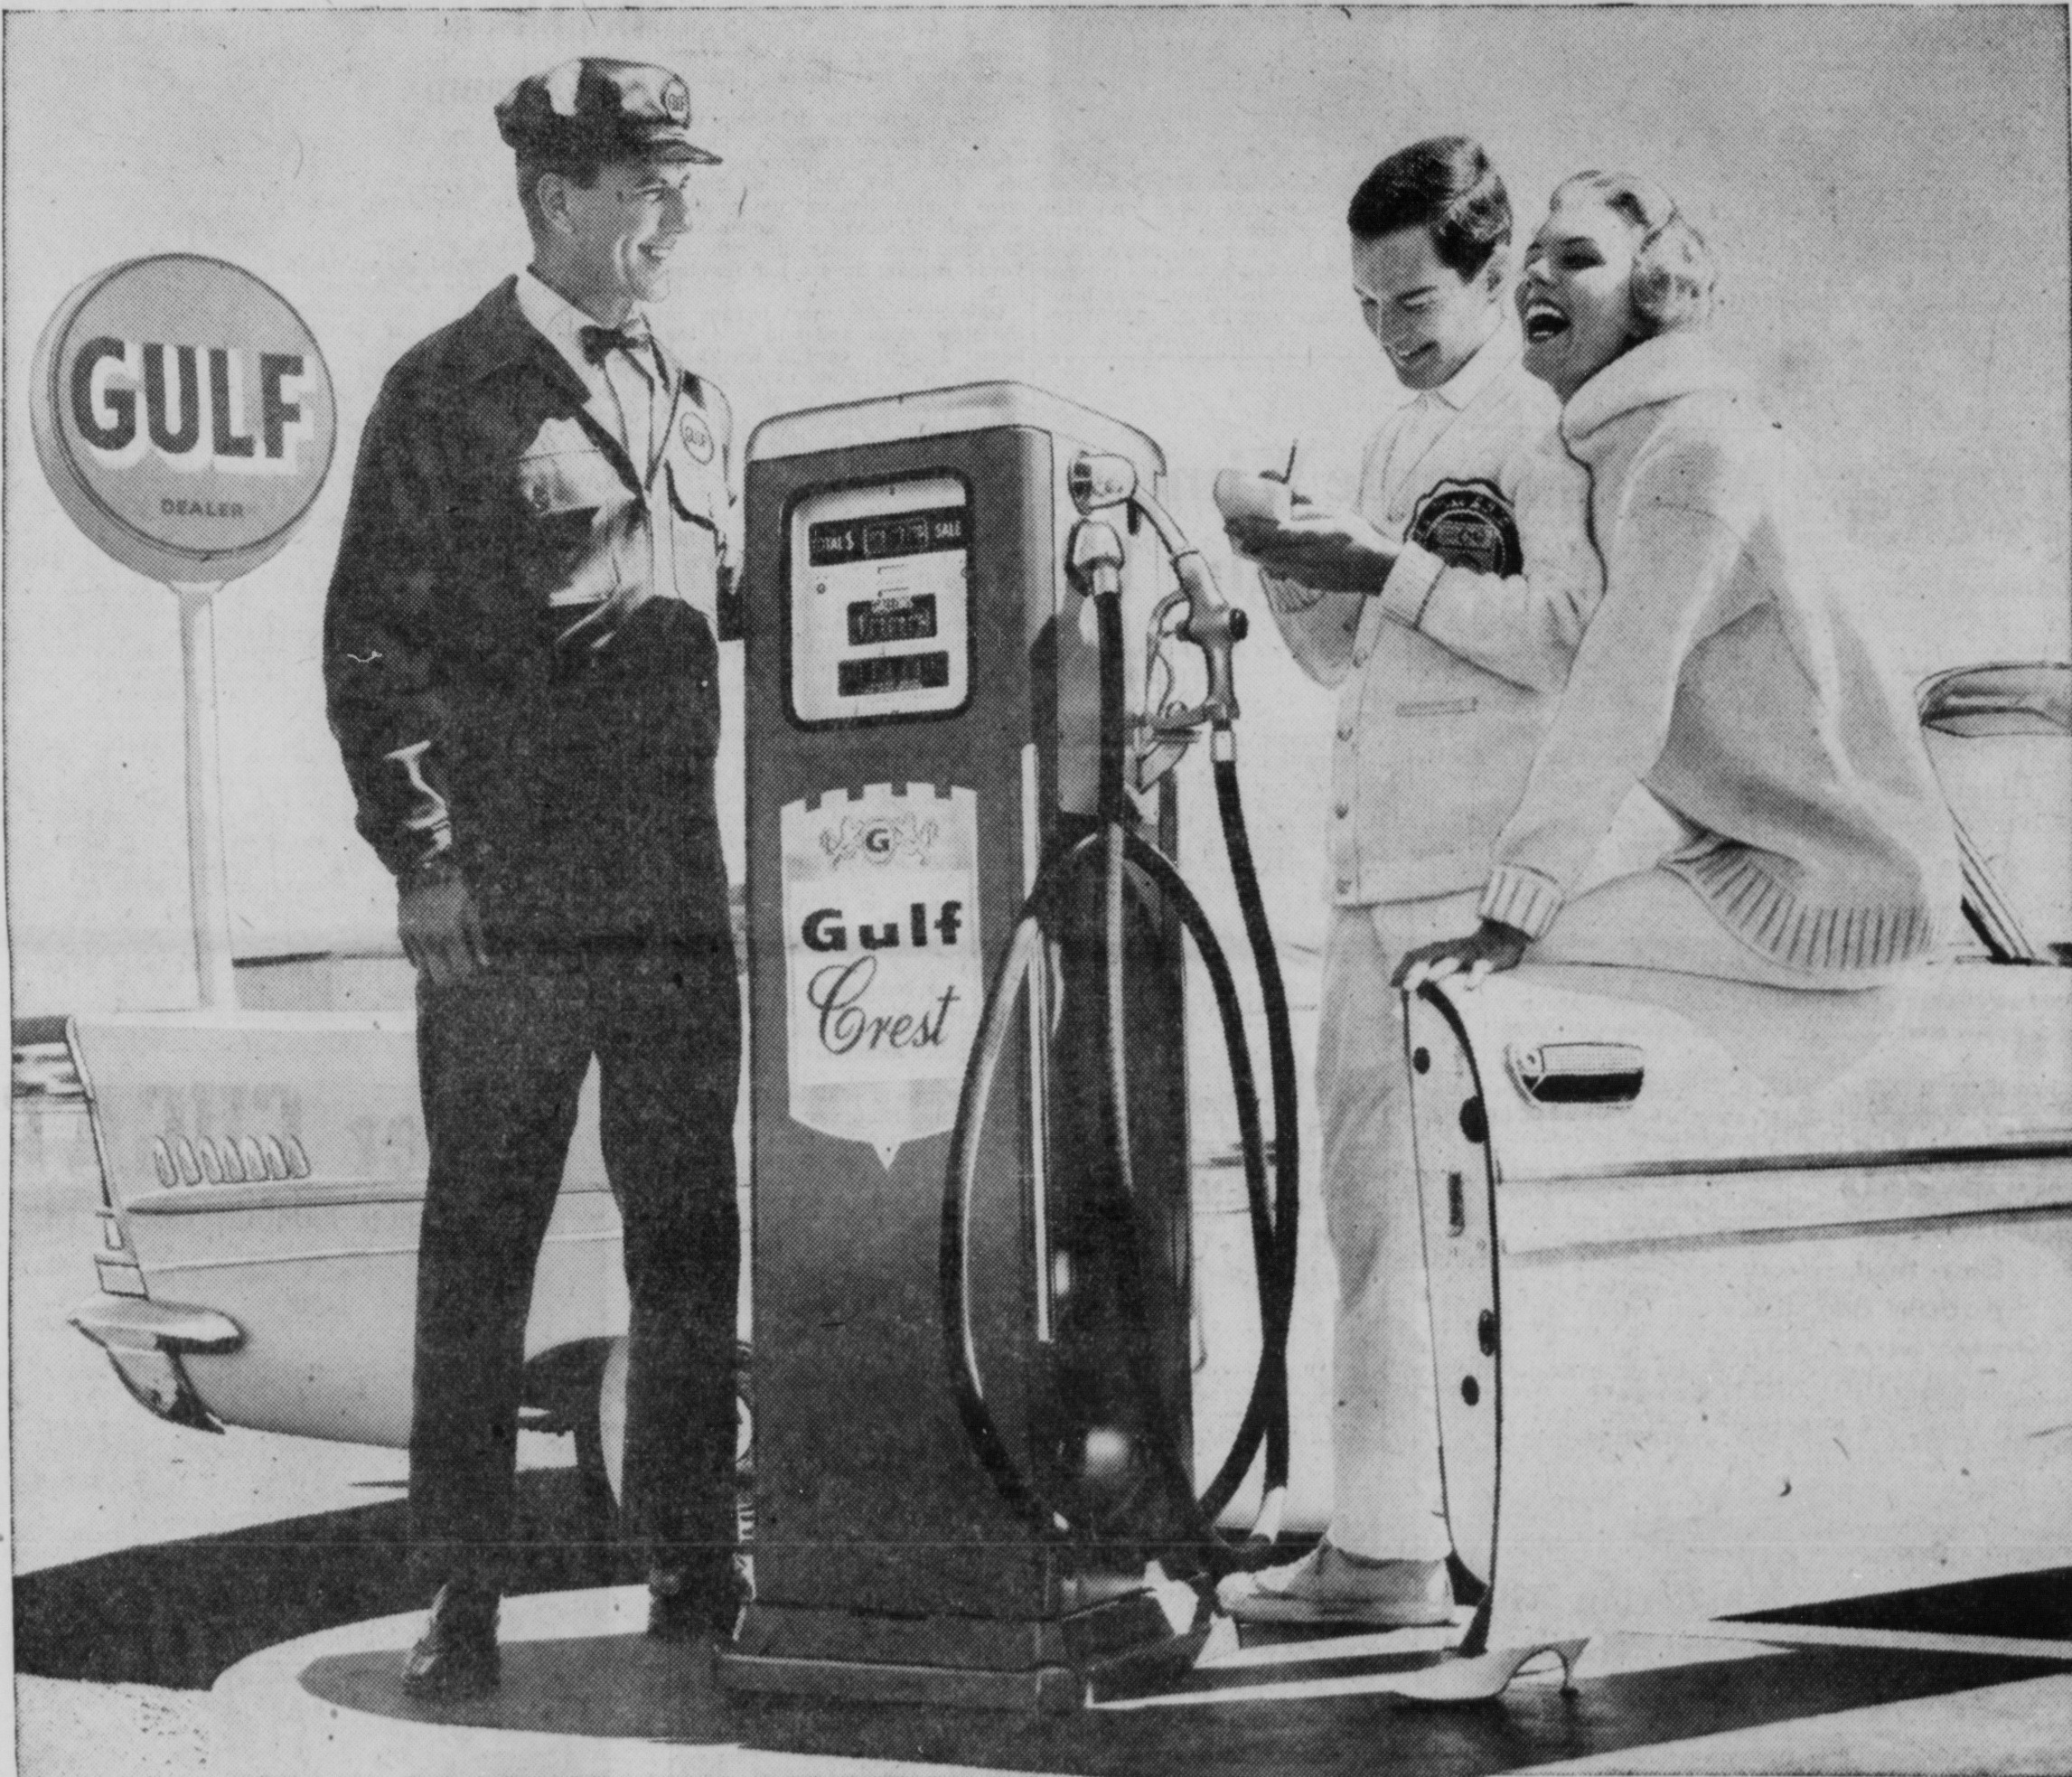

A third field goal by Baker enabled Washington to lead, 9-7, at halftime. Put in the third quarter, Jurgensen directed a six-play, 76-yard drive climaxed by the quarterback's nine-yard scoring aerial to Dick Bielski.

Baker booted a fourth field goal in the third period to bring the Skins within two points at 14-12. But McDonald took a short pass from Jurgensen and raced 25 yards into the end zone to complete a 36-yard touchdown play.

Bart Starr, Howie Ferguson and Babe Parilli scored touchdowns and Fred Cone kicked two field goals as the Packers whipped the Steelers. Ferguson's run was for 40 yards while Starr went over from the 1 and Parrilli from 5 yards out.

Stand Is Delayed On Jurisdiction Over Seaway Corp.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has delayed taking a firm stand on the proposed transfer of jurisdiction over the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. it was disclosed today.

Points to Study
Sherman Adams, chief aide to President Eisenhower, has answered letters from congressmen protesting the shift by saying only that "This matter is being intensively studied." Eisenhower has authority to make the transfer.

The congressmen had protested in letters to Eisenhower plans to transfer jurisdiction over the Seaway Corp. from the Army Engineers to the Commerce Department. The Seaway Corp. is a government agency set up by the 1954 Seaway Act.

Midwestern members of Congress have contended that the Commerce Department is dominated by eastern railroad interests, traditional foes of the seaway. A controversy currently is raging over initial tolls for the giant waterway, scheduled to open in 1959.

In identical letters to two of the protesting congressmen, Sen. Barrett (R-Wyo.) and Rep. H. Carl Andersen (R-Minn.), Adams said: "I am pleased to acknowledge for the President your Nov. 12 letter in respect to the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp."

"This matter is being intensively studied, and I will gladly see that your views in respect to it are kept actively in mind."

Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) has asked congressmen who voted in 1954 for U. S. participation with Canada in building the seaway to protest the proposed jurisdictional shift by writing to Eisenhower.

Farmers See Benson Out by December 1

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm leaders here figure that if there is to be a change in the secretaryship of agriculture, it will be made possibly by Dec. 1.

There have been reports that the administration is considering replacing Ezra Taft Benson in the post because of sharp criticism of him by agricultural leaders in and out of Congress, including many Republicans.

Benson himself has said that he does not intend to resign, but states that he was serving on a day to day basis subject to wishes of the President.

The Dec. 1 deadline for a possible change was suggested by observers on the theory that a new secretary would need at least a month to develop possible new farm program recommendations for presentation to Congress when it convenes early in January.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Comeback?" says Margaret Truman. I didn't know I had been away. That was her reaction to comments on the resumption of her career as a performer. Absent for more than a year because of the birth of her son, Clifton Truman Daniel, she was here to perform a dramatic role on Matinee Theater and do some singing with Gisele McKenzie.

"I must admit that I was more nervous before the Matinee show than I've ever been in my life," she said. Despite this, she drew good notices from the reviewers, not to mention her No. 1 fan, former President Harry Truman. She reported that her father saw it on a color set in her apartment in New York, where he was visiting.

Unexpected Praise

Miss Truman also drew unexpected praise from Ethel Barrymore, an inveterate TV fan who caught the show and said her work was "exceptionally good."

All this has helped spur Margaret on to new activity — she spurns the word "comeback." "I still have from 9 to 12 shows to do for NBC each year," she explained. "It is basically the same contract I have had since 1950, though they let me off last year. I guess they didn't want a very pregnant lady appearing on their shows."

Asked Other Things

She was asked about other possibilities—her own TV series, a Broadway show, etc.

"I'll consider them as they come along in one light—if they don't interfere with my home life," she said.

She is married to Clifton Daniel Jr., assistant to the managing editor of the New York Times. Does he approve of her working?

"I wouldn't be doing it if he didn't," she replied dutifully. Margaret seemed happier and more at ease than she has on previous visits here, and she admitted that she enjoyed her new life.

"I've been close to the newspaper life, but always on the receiving end," she remarked. "Now I'm on the other side and I find it very enjoyable. About half our friends are in the news field and half in show business. But we know many people in other fields, too; you can do that in New York."

Husband Shocked

She admitted that it was a shock to her husband to find himself on the receiving end of the news.

"The press conference when we announced our engagement was the biggest I've ever seen in New York," she commented. "I'm not sure he knew what he was getting into."

She hinted that he received another blow after their marriage: her cooking.

"Like a lot of girls in my generation, my training in the kitchen was overlooked," she said. "We used to laugh at the girls who took home EC in school, but we don't any longer."

"Mother was a good cook, but somehow I never learned from her. Luckily when we were first married, we lived in a hotel, where I could order food sent up. I had to learn to cook on a hot plate."

"Fortunately, my cooking has improved since we've been married. Slightly, anyway."

Federation Welcomes Blessing From Grange

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Milk Producers Federation today welcomed action of a sister farm organization, the National Grange, in endorsing a federation self-help program for dairy products.

The Grange gave the plan its blessing at a national convention in Colorado Springs late last week.

Under the plan, the dairy industry, operating under government supervision, would set up a corporation to acquire and dispose of its butter, milk, cheese and other surpluses. Funds for financing these operations would be obtained by means of assessments on dairy producers.

The plan has been recommended to Congress in several recent sessions, but no action was taken. The federation figured that a grange endorsement might help win congressional approval.

Hadrian's Wall, built 1,800 years ago across the north of England as protection from the original natives of Scotland, still stands in part. Originally the wall was 73 miles long and 20 feet high.
